PM Narendra Modi and BJP National President J P Nadda during the party's national executive committee meeting in Hyderabad on Saturday | VINAY MADAPU

Acid rain in Hyd as KCR takes on Modi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

IT was a temperate July day in Hyderabad—never going beyond 30 degrees Celsius—but the earth was searing-hot with rhetoric. Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao took on Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who was just a few miles away, daring him to pull down the Telangana government just as the ruling BJP had done in Maharashtra—and promising a "revolution" if that came about.

PM Modi had landed in Hyderabad in the afternoon to participate in the BJP's national executive. He headed straight to the venue—HICC, in the city's IT corridor—in a chopper. The stage there had already seen belligerent words from BJP leaders, as they engaged in political volleys with KCR.

The TRS, rightly interpreting the BJP's choice of Hyderabad for its national executive as a politically loaded one, decided to go big with its own counter-show. Hours before the PM arrived in the city, KCR and his minister-son K T Rama Rao organised a grand welcome for Opposition presidential candidate Yashwant Sinha. It rained pink petals, flags and confetti as a convoy carrying Rao and Sinha drove from Begumpet airport to the Jalavihar guest house on Necklace road, trailed by hundreds of bikes. And then, as KCR addressed his party MPs and MLAs, the barbs flew thick and fast. He called the caravan of BJP leaders "political tourists" and taunted PM Modi about the falling rupee and asked why he was avoiding talking about what was his pet subject when the UPA was ruling.

"Several great Union ministers who are here are saying they will topple the TRS government. We are also waiting for it so that we can be free. Later we will bring you down in Delhi," Rao thundered.

At the BJP venue, party orators had already lit up the stage with some fiery words.

Referring to the glaring absence of the CM among the dignitaries who welcomed PM Modi, Union minister Smriti Irani called it an insult to the Constitution.

As the political fisticuffs continued late into the night on Saturday, it will be Modi's turn to take centrestage on Sunday as he is set to address a public meeting in Secunderabad. The BJP promises that will signal "the death-knell" for TRS's dynastic rule. P5,9

Hate angle in Amravati, too

Police suspect chemist was killed for backing Nupur; NIA starts probe

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi / Mumbai

THE Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) on Saturday handed over the case related to the murder of a 54-year-old chemist at Amravati in Maharashtra to the National Investigation Agency (NIA), three days after it entrusted the federal organisation with probing the gruesome killing of a tailor in Rajasthan's Udaipur.

"MHA handed over the investigation of the case relating to the barbaric killing of Umesh Kolhe in Amravati, Maharashtra, on June 21 to the NIA. The conspiracy behind the killing, involvement of organisations and international linkages would be thoroughly investigated," the Home Minister's Office tweeted.

Kolhe ran a medical store in Amravati city. He had shared a post on a few WhatsApp groups in support of Nupur Sharma. According to police, a man named Irfan Khan is the mastermind behind the brutal killing. Khan allegedly roped in five others to murder Kolhe, promising them ₹10,000 each and safe escape. Kolhe was killed on June 21 night when he was on his way back home on a two-wheeler. Police officials say his throat was slit.

The Amravati police have a rested six suspects. Drawing similarities between the Udaipur and Amravati killings, Amravati DCP Vikram Sali said, "Prima facie, it seems that the reason for the murder is Kolhe's social media post on Nupur Sharma."

The police have also recovered a knife which was allegedly used to commit the crime. Before making the arrests, the police recovered and studied CCTV footage which helped them nab the suspects.

INVESTIGATION TEAM VISITS SITE

A team of the NIA visited Amravati city on Saturday and started the investigation. Another team of Anti-Terrorism Squad of state police from Aurangabad will also visit the city to collect information, sources said

Now, ED to probe Zubair's funding

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) is likely to file a money laundering case against Alt-News co-founder Mohammed Zubair after Delhi Police found he received donations from Pakistan and Syria.

The federal financial investigating agency has asked the Delhi Police to hand over the FIR, remand papers and account-related information of the Zubair's website.

Earlier, a Delhi court dismissed Zubair's bail plea and sent him to 14-day judicial custody, citing the nature and gravity of the offences against him and observing that the matter is at the initial stage of investigation. Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Snigdha Sarvaria pronounced the judgment after the open court reconvened late in the evening.

Delhi Police had produced Zubair before the court on the expiry of his five-day custodial interrogation. The police said he was not required for custodial interrogation but sought his judicial custody.

Zubair was arrested on June 27 for an "objectionable tweet" he posted in 2018. Notably, he was arrested soon after he flagged a video of now-suspended BJP leader Nupur Sharma's controversial remarks on Prophet Mohammed.

Police have invoked Sections 201 (causing disappearance of evidence), 120B (criminal conspiracy) of the Indian Penal Code (IPC), and Section 35 of the Foreign Contribution Regulation Act (FCRA) for allegedly receiving foreign donations.

Goof-up by Delhi Police

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

DELHI Police had egg on its face after a senior official told media that Zubair's bail application was rejected even before the order was pronounced. "It is extremely scandalous and it speaks of the status of rule of law in our country today. That even before the judicial magistrate has sat and pronounced the order, the police have leaked the order to the media. How KPS Malhotra (DCP) knows what the order is? This calls for serious, serious introspection," said Soutik Banerjee, Zubair's lawyer. The police officer later claimed he "misheard" the message from his colleague, which led to the confusion.

Seismologists: Tremors in Kodagu may be sign of impending disaster

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

SEISMOLOGISTS and experts have warned that the frequent earthquakes and tremors occurring in Kodagu is a sign of an impending disaster that should not be ignored while assuming that the Deccan Plateau, which is the oldest land formation, is the safest region in seismological terms.

After studying the nature of tremors and their increasing frequency, the experts have forecast at least a 100 vibrations in the region in the coming days, about which the government needs to take a serious view to mitigate casualties in case of a larger seismic disaster. While they said since earthquakes are up to magnitude 3.0 on the Richter Scale there is nothing to worry about, they also cautioned against ignoring the tremors. They said the floods, landslides and now the earthquakes in the region are a warning sign to be cautious, while pointing out that the fragile Western Ghats region is not safe.

These observations have been made by a team of experts which visited the region over the past few days to take stock of the situation. Their observations are based on the assessments they made over the last week and on the number of earthquakes that have occurred.

Locals fear earthquakes could trigger landslides in Kodagu

The visiting experts were seismologists, disaster management cell officials and local administration officials.

The team has also expressed concerns over the earthquakes during the monsoon period. "At present they are occurring after the rain. The rainfall also being recorded in the region is around 6 cm. We are worried if rain of 12-15 cm occurs for 3-4 days and an earthquake occurs at the same time. Then there will be more disasters. Unable to do anything to avoid this, all we are doing is praying," said a local administration official.

An official from National Centre of Seismology, who wished not to be named, said: "If the number of earthquakes and vibrations intensifies, then it is a matter of concern. Then there is an urgent need to study the waves and the faults. However, the government should not relax. A close monitoring of the situation is required." CONTINUED ON: P5

The Mysuru-based Green Dot Trust is on a mission to reunite mentally-ill and destitute with their families for the last 14 years

CONNECTING THE DOTS

KARTHIK K K @Mysuru

THE family of 43-year-old Babu alias Ibrahim had lost all hopes of meeting him again after he went missing from home six years ago. The task of tracing him was all the more daunting as he was mentally ill. But Green Dot Trust, a Mysuru-based trust, came to their help and united them with Babu. Not just him, the Trust has aided 86 such mentally-ill patients and destitute wandering the streets of Mysuru and neighbouring districts get back to their families.

A public charitable trust and not-for-profit organisation, Green Dot has been on a quiet mission, ensuring quality and respectful living for the homeless, mentally ill and the disabled. The focus is also on rescuing, rehabilitating and reuniting them with their families.

Established in 2008 by Dr CK Kantharaju, the Trust has so far rescued 111 homeless mentally-ill people and successfully reunited 86 of them with their families. Kantharaju, a PhD holder in anthropology, has applied anthropological techniques of data collection extensively to help these people.

"Initially, the Trust was involved in empowering women belonging to economically weaker sections by training them in tailoring and making them self-sustainable. In November 2014, the trust set up an old age home for women in Roopanagar, Dasanakoppalu, to address the needs of women who are away from home. Subsequently, Manasadhama -- a home for homeless mentally-ill men was established," he recalls.

The trust has set up the Manasadhama helpline, and whenever they receive a call, the team rushes to the spot and rescues the mentally-ill person who is then rehabilitated and provided with needed treatment to make him stable gradually. "Once the individual is fine, he starts revealing details about his family, based on which we try to contact the family or take the help of the police to find the family and put the person in touch with them," says Kantharaju.

Khadar from Tirupur in Tamil Nadu was found wandering near the Bandipalya APMC in Mysuru half-naked. He was reunited with his family in 2019. Sanjay, a 30-year-old rescued in Bilikere by the police was brought to Manasadhama. After treatment, it was found that he was from Khurianta in Tamil Nadu. The trust launched a search to find his family and traced his brother Ranjan Ojha, who revealed that Sanjay was missing for four years and was under treatment for six years previously.

"These are just some of the cases that we have attended to over the years. Most of these patients don't remember even simple things about them. But when we provide them with necessary treatment and counselling, they start to communicate with us and recollect their past," says Kantharaju. "Our mission is betterment of homeless, disabled and neglected individuals through a holistic approach," he adds.

"We have plans to rescue, rehabilitate and reintegrate at least 50 homeless mentally-ill individuals with their families across the country by 2025," he says.

Besides the home for the homeless, the trust runs Manasadhara -- a daycare centre for the mentally-ill in Mysuru and Madikeri. Here, rehabilitation is provided to the inmates along with counselling, psychiatric support and vocational training, including bag making, gardening and painting. The trust trains them in yoga. It also manages Nele -- an old-age home for women and a primary health centre in Kanoor in Virajpet taluk of Madikeri under the public-private partnership model.

"We create a friendly, caring and family-like atmosphere for the inmates, where they share their joys and sorrows and live happily. This has given us best results. We have plans to expand our reach to homeless destitute and marginalised communities. We have established a home again model to address the issues of the homeless with mental illness which will be relaunched in a grand scale again," Kantharaj concludes.

All for wells' wellness

With many old wells lying unused, the Futagao Badni Gram Panchayat has taken up the work to restore them

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @Gadag

SOURCING of water has transformed over the years with scientific inventions, but the habit of using old wells remains in some places as the last vestige of history.

The Futagao Badni Gram Panchayat recently launched a campaign to inspire villagers to restore old wells. Before long, youth in Lakshmeshwar and surrounding rural pockets too started cleaning defunct wells and rejuvenating them for the monsoon.

Lakshmeshwar was once replete with wells and the entire town depended on them for water. But when water started reaching their homes from other sources, residents stopped using wells and turned them into garbage dumps.

To inspire the youth to be part of the campaign, gram panchayat members decided to clean a well and put up photos on social media sites as part of the campaign, impacting the youth who took up cleaning of wells in the town too.

Soon, the campaign started eliciting a good response and many organisations came forward to be part of the social initiative to save these valuable water sources.

Some environmentalists too shared these pictures, explaining the importance of old wells which could be the main source of water in many districts, where villagers trek long distances to get water.

The Futagao Badni project began in the second week of June, and works to clean more than 10 wells were taken up in the next 15 days.

The movement gained traction with historians and professors in Gadag also deciding to list main kalyanis in the district and cleaning and preserving them for future generations. Urban and rural populations, who were hit by successive droughts, were enthused to save wells in their respective areas.

A senior citizen from Lakshmeshwar said, "Earlier, wells were a source of water round-the-clock. But now they are in a dilapidated state as people have switched to tap water. Many wells have been closed. If wells are maintained properly, there is no need to walk for miles to get water during a crisis. Our ancestors had built wells for easy availability of water, but now people don't have the patience to fill water from wells."

Satish Patil, a resident of Futagao Badni village who is heading the campaign, said, "We have received a good response and we are happy that many youth are coming forward and showing interest in cleaning old wells. People should regularly use and clean wells, which have now been reduced to dustbins. If people can't clean wells themselves, they should hire someone to do it. If we start using wells daily, the young generation too will learn to use them. The youth don't know how to get a pot of water from a well and they should be taught. We want to create awareness and we will progress to that aspect after the campaign."

Futagao Badni Gram Panchayat president Ashok Lamani said, "As residents struggle to get water during summer, all the gram panchayat members decided to clean an unused well in the village."

Youth from Lakshmeshwar too said that they were inspired to mitigate the water crisis during summers. "Now we have started cleaning an old well near Hirebana area," they added.

Historic wells in Gadag

Gadag has many historic wells called kalyanis or pushkaranis. Lakkundi had 101 wells. Only a few are left now, like Musukin bhavi, Kanner bhavi, Chateer bhavi, Nagakunda in Sudi village, Japada bhavi at Dambal, Trikuteshwar temple well, Narasimha honda behind Veeranarayana temple, Koneri Honda near Veeranarayan temple and others.

'Save Historic Wells'

This is not the first time that local governments in Gadag have started the 'Save Historic Wells' campaign. The Gadag Municipal administration had taken up cleaning of an old well, called Pancharhonda, in Gadag town, which was built in 1903. The well and its surroundings had become a dump yard and the entire area used to stink. The well was cleaned in February 2020, and then the Covid pandemic put the brakes on the campaign. The well is near Trikuteshwara temple and Jumma Masjid in Gadag.

Govt schools to get buses under MLALAD scheme

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN a boon for students, the government has revised the MLA Local Area Development Scheme (MLALADS) to include purchase of school buses for government schools.

The revision will mean that students attending government schools can make use of free transportation to and from schools. The state government use funds allocated for MLALADS to provide school buses for government schools in different constituencies in the state. However, according to the government notification put out by the Planning, Programme Monitoring and Statistics Department, the School Development and Monitoring Committee will be in charge of general upkeep, fuel costs and other maintenance work of the school buses.

While funds may not be enough to cater to all government schools, the provision will be used to target larger schools that offer education to students from other constituencies or nearby villages. The proposal for the initiative was floated in May in a meeting with Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai.

STAYING READY

Govt school teachers form collective

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

TO prevent lack of preparedness for unforeseen circumstances like those brought about by the Covid pandemic, a group of government school teachers got together and continue to brainstorm ways to improve education for their students.

Teachers, under a collective called Shikshana Ilake, have tried to address issues brought about by digital education, especially lack of attention. Taking advantage of online platforms and prevalence of tech in education, the teachers help each other brainstorm ideas, train each other on better methods and also use crowdfunding to help organise workshops and seminars to make learning interesting for students. "We started with an intent to integrate all government school teachers, share all necessary information to teachers across the state, keep connected with all teachers and work together for the betterment of the education system," said Prabu Gowda, a government teacher and community head for Shikshana Ilake.

"We wanted to get government school teachers familiar with the latest online teaching methods and motivate students to attend classes with more interest. We focused on keeping classes interactive, regularly talking to students, asking them questions, showcasing informatory videos related to classroom topics and giving interesting assignments to students," Gowda said.

Even after the pandemic, the teachers still see the benefits of tech in schools, especially when used properly. Apart from interacting with teachers from across the country, they also make use of crowdfunding to organise workshops and seminars for students, which would have been impossible previously due to lack of funds. The community had, in particular, made use of an India-made social media app, Kutumb, which allowed them to gather funds.

The teachers also noticed that the use of videos in teaching helped peak the interest of students when it came to learning, combating the issue of lack of attention.

"There were a lot of hits and misses initially. We have also been able to get experts to conduct workshops and organise training sessions for teachers to better engage with students and also improve their own skills in terms of new teaching methods," Gowda said.

DISTRIBUTION COMPANIES TO ENSURE POWER SUPPLY

EXPLAINING the reason behind the decision, an official from the energy department told The New Indian Express that the pile of applications for new connections have been increasing. "To ensure that rules are followed is the lookout of the municipalities. As per rules, distribution companies must ensure electricity is supplied. If it is illegal, the municipalities must inform the Escoms and the power supply should be cut off."

While issuing the order, KERC officials stated that in no other state or even the world over is occupancy certificate made mandatory for seeking power.

"The revision in the order of power supply only after NOC was brought in 2017-18. It was noted that many people did not know that OC was needed and so many were being harassed. Many would also put illegal applications even before the building was constructed. It was found that over 7,000 applications for power connections were pending in Bescom limits alone. Now while getting power supply will be easy, ensuring that it is not illegally utilised will be the responsibility of municipalities," a senior energy department official said.

It also came to light that instead of levying one-time penalty on illegal constructions or deviations, double tariff as penalty was being collected. This needed to be stopped and hence the amendment has been made, the official added.

No clarity from CM, civic workers continue strike

Assurances not kept up, say protesters

AFTER a delegation of pourakarmikas met CM Basavaraj Bommai at his residence on Friday, they have decided to continue their agitation despite 'assurance' as the organisers of state-wide safai karmachari association said that the proceeding copy is contradictory to what was agreed upon.

"Government has agreed in principle to regularise the services of pourakarmikas who are working on a direct payment system.The necessary legal and technical measures in this regard would be taken. A joint committee of officials and representatives of the pourakarmikas has been formed. We have agreed to extend social security, medical service and assistance for education of children of pourakarmikas," the CM said before leaving for Telangana to attend the BJP national executive meeting.

"It never said anything about appointment, it said that a committee will give a report in three months. If you want to bury any scam or divert or delay on an important topic, just form a panel," said PP Appanna, General Secretary, AICCTU, Karnataka Chapter.

Echoing the same, Nirmala, president, BBMP Pourakarmika Association, AICCTU said, "We will not call off the protest. Let them file a case or do whatever they want. When CM clearly mentions about granting permanent status to garbage loaders, cleaners, drivers and underground drainage workers on contract, the strike will end."

She added that opposition leaders including Siddaramaiah had met the agitators and told them if the BJP government fails, they will fulfil the their demands when Congress returns to power next year.

'WILL TRY TO CONVINCE THEM TO STOP STRIKE'

Safai Karmachari Commission chairman M Shivanna said that after agreeing to call off strike yesterday, the leaders have gone back on their words. CM has assured to all six demands phase wise. "Of 49,000 posts, 10,000 pourakarmikas have been granted permanent status and rest are under direct payment role. To make it permanent, a committee is being formed and a report will be submitted in three months. Salappa and Chandrashekar committee report are being asked to look into it too. Social security measures are being taken, we will try to convince them to call off the strike".

GARBAGE COLLECTION NOT IMPACTED: BBMP

Bengaluru: With more than 10,000 pourakarmikas including helpers, supervisors and compact drivers absent from work, garbage collection across the city seems to be normal. Special Commissioner Rangappa told media persons in terms of door-to-door collection of waste from commercial establishments and transportation of garbage is still intact. The Palike is only facing the issue of road cleaning for which the municipality has deployed trucks attached with sweeping machines at times, he added. On regularisation of services, he said Palike has sent a proposal to government to make 4,000 BBMP pourakarmikas permanent.

Man takes help at ATM, duped of ₹8.5L

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A retired government employee had the shock of his life when he went to an ATM kiosk to withdraw money. He had Rs 8.54 lakh in his account but when he swiped his card, he found only Rs 529 in his account.

M G Ramakrishna Gowda, 60, from Yelahanka 4th block, immediately approached the bank and was told that the ATM card which was with him was not issued by the bank. He was also told that there have been multiple transactions through his debit card from May 21 till June 13.

Gowda then remembered that he had gone to a ATM kiosk in Yelahanka to generate the PIN on May 21, 2022. But since he was unaware of the procedure, he took the help of a person who was present inside the kiosk. That person, who turned out be a conman, not only helped Gowda generate the PIN but also helped him withdraw Rs 40,000. While returning the card, the accused exchanged his card with that of Gowda.

Based on a complaint filed by Gowda, the North East CEN police arrested the accused Mallinatha Angadi, 32, a resident of Attur Layout in Yelahanka. Police have also recovered gold ornaments including four bangles and three finger rings from Angadi which he had brought for his family members.

Anoop A Shetty, Deputy Commissioner of Police (North East), has advised the public to be careful while withdrawing money at ATM centres.

Never hand over debit cards to strangers at ATM kiosks. Ensure that nobody is watching you while you enter the PIN. Also ensure that you get an SMS alert from the bank for every transaction done, Shetty said.

Actor Sudeep cheers up acid attack victim

SHILPA P @Bengaluru

AFTER two months of the acid attack on 24-year-old Asha (name changed), doctors said that she is out of danger, according to family members.

Amid grafting, nutrition therapy, multiple episodes of dressing, physiotherapy, the smile is back on her face as her wish to talk to her favourite actor Sudeep came true.

The actor called her up, and motivated her, while he promised to meet her personally, Asha's uncle Sundaresh said.

"Although we had lied that to her that the accused was arrested, she knows the facts now. She has recovered from the shock. Unlike initial phase, she is relatively more confident, and has started to have solid food. But she is unable to walk and use the washroom on her own. The mild injury on her left eye is still bothering her but doesn't impair her vision. She is reading books, listening to music to keep herself engaged," Sundaresh said.

"Doctors have not said anything about discharge, she will be shifted out of ICU soon," he said.

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A 32-year-old man from Chennai who runs a startup in Bengaluru is undergoing treatment for a broken jaw after he was allegedly punched by three bouncers at an upscale pub in Koramangala 5th block. The victim along with 10 of his friends had gone to the pub for a birthday bash a few days back.

Shriram Thirumalai, residing at Patel Rama Reddy Road in Domlur, got a call when he was in the pub but since he was unable to hear anything inside due to the noise, he came out to take the call. While entering again, he was denied permission which resulted in a heated argument between him and the bouncers.

He was allegedly dragged to the terrace and punched on his face. When he was being thrown out of the pub, his friends came to his rescue.

Speaking to TNSE, Shriram said he is in the city for some work related to his to startup, and said he was beaten but refused to share more details.

"Action has been taken against the suspects. CCTV footage has been checked to see why the bouncers denied permission. The victim is said to have gone out without informing security. The pub management said customers have to inform the guards if they have to return after going out," said an officer.

HC: Multiple FIRs allowed for same charges

Bengaluru: Rejecting the pleas filed by a physical education teacher of a school in Chikkamagaluru questioning registration of multiple FIRs against him for alleged sexual assault on children, the Karnataka HC observed it cannot be said that multiple FIRs are registered for a solitary incident on a date when the victims and the date of incidents are different though the allegations are common. Justice M Nagaprasanna dismissing the petitions filed by K T Prabhunaika, challenging 13 FIRs registered against him. The court said the crime committed by the accused against each student has been reported by their parents and the incidents span between one and three months from September 2021 to January 2022 and every fact is necessary for probe. With integrated med, Nimhans puts patients on recovery path

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

ABHISHEK Mohan (37) suffers from schizophrenia and has been treated by some of the best psychiatrists and mental health hospitals in India. His treatment, which started with mildest anti-psychotic drugs, went up to the highest anti-psychotic drugs, but there was no improvement. His family was advised to take him to the National Institute of Mental Health & Neuro Sciences (NIMHANS), where they were told to consult the Integrated Medicine Department (IMD).

Mohan has been under treatment of IMD, which comprises the three streams of medicine and therapy – allopathy, ayurveda and yoga along with the antipsychotic drugs that have been prescribed to him since May and there is a "20 per cent improvement in him," said his father. "Before this treatment, Abhishek used to drool uncontrollably, stammer and had an unstable gait. There is a marked improvement now," he added. In March, IMD won the 'Centre of Excellence' grant from the Ministry of Ayush to undertake the project 'Yantra'.

The centre has secured 11 research projects worth Rs 14 crore to evaluate the effect of integrative approaches consisting of ayurveda and yoga with modern scientific parameters on opioid dependence, psychosis, migraine, paediatric, ADHD, Parkinson's disease, dementia, multiple sclerosis, as well as some related to Covid.

Director, Nimhans, Pratima Murthy said, "Every system of medicine has its own advantages and disadvantages. This integration helps gain the benefit of all the systems. We need to bring clinicians from different fields together to form this centre with the focus on patient care at the core."

Initial randomised controlled clinical trials led by former director, Prof Emeritus, IMD, Nimhans and President of Medical Assessment and Rating Board, National Medical Commission (NMC), BN Gangadhar, demonstrated that practising yoga five days per week for 12 weeks could be as useful as taking antidepressants in patients with mild to moderate depression. "Earlier we used to get one or two patients a week. Now we get 50 to 60 patients every day. The fact that doctors are referring their patients to the centre based on their feedback is significant. Initially, all the referrals were from psychiatrists. Now we get referrals from neurology and neurosurgery," he said.

Muniyappa's meeting raises brows

Will decide in a month. Not happy with induction of two detractors into Cong: 7-time MP

V VELAYUDHAM @Kolar

SENIOR Congress leader and Congress Working Committee permanent invitee KH Muniyappa, who is visibly disturbed over the induction of his "rivals" – former legislators MC Sudhakar of Chinthamani and Kothur Manjunath -- into the party-fold, held a meeting of his supporters from Kolar on Saturday, and ominously said he will take a decision in a month, triggering speculation in the state and national party circles.

The seven-time Lok Sabha member said he is waiting for a reply from Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah and KPCC president DK Shiva Kumar over the induction of the two leaders.

Probably for the first time in his political career of 30 years, he clarified that he is not waiting for any reply from the party high command, but from the party state unit, as he was not kept in the loop while the party reinducted the two of his detractors into the party in New Delhi in the presence of ex-AICC chief Rahul Gandhi recently.

Muniyappa, who lost the previous Lok Sabha election in 2019, said the two former legislators, along with sitting Congress legislators, joined hands with BJP, openly worked against him and ensured his defeat in the poll. The former Union minister said he does not have any objection to the two being brought back into the party, but what affected him was the fact that he was sidelined while taking the decision and when the two were formally welcomed into the party, though he was present in New Delhi.

The entire process has been guided by former Speaker and Srinivaspur MLA Ramesh Kumar, he alleged. "All I need is a clarification from Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar on sidelining me. Later, I will take a decision based on the wishes of my supporters and workers of Kolar." Muniyappa said his vanavasa will end soon, and the Mahabharata war, where Pandavas won with the guidance of Lord Krishna, will repeat here, he warned.

At the meeting, senior leaders, including former minister Naseer Ahmed, Bise Gowda, Urubagilu Srinivas and Jayadev, expressed their displeasure over the reinduction of Srinivas and Manjunath.

Congress National General Secretary, Karnataka in-charge, Randeep Singh Surjeewala, tweeted, "KH Muniyappa is a senior leader with profound experience and commitment to the congress party. In order to put up a strong fight to defeat the BJP, we decided to forego all the differences and bitterness of the past, and thanked Muniyappa and other senior leaders for rising to the occasion in the best interest of the party and agreeing to work unitedly."

Siddu lists Modi's failures, Pralhad Joshi hits back

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah on Saturday released a booklet in Kannada 'Modi eight, blunders one hundred and eight' delineating the series of blunders allegedly committed under prime minister Narendra Modi's leadership during his tenure.

Siddaramaiah's release was timed in a way when the BJP national executive meeting was underway at Hyderabad, and even sought reply to his queries from the meeting. He told media persons that Modi-led NDA government has failed in all terms including managing the Covid-19 pandemic.

Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah addresses the media at Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru on Saturday | SHRIRAM BN

"Country's financial situation is in doldrums as the borrowing has reached Rs 155 lakh crore until March 2022, a hike of Rs 102 lakh crore in eight years. Until 2014, it was 53.11 lakh crores. A debt of Rs 1.7 lakh is on every citizen," he claimed.

"Despite failing to fulfil the 2014 Lok Sabha poll promises, they have publicised it as a success. But promises like bringing black money stashed in foreign banks, alleviation of poverty and doubling income of the farmers are yet to be fulfilled. "The BJP won the 2019 Lok Sabha polls by diverting the attention of the people towards Pulwama and Balakote incidents, he claimed. Of the 92 crore electorate, 22.9 crore have voted for them which they have projected as the entire country," he said. He listed out eight blunders allegedly committed by the government including demonetisation, disinvestment of PSUs, unemployment, anti-farm laws and unscientific implementation of GST.

Union minister for coal, mines and parliamentary affairs Pralhad Joshi gave a rebuttal and termed the booklet a bunch of lies. "With many scam, the UPA government had forgotten the security of the country and pushed into the whirlpool of debts. Modi, through subsidies, had brought the administration back on to track," he claimed.

Joshi listed out the schemes Modi has introduced including the Jeevanjyotibhim where 49.95 lakh registered people claimed Rs 741.42 crore while 1.1 crore claimed Rs 144.12 crore under Surakshabima schemes adding that the Atal pension scheme covered 22.06 lakh beneficiaries. Taking a dig at the Congress for the content on the back page of the booklet which says "Congress not alone a party, but history of country's freedom struggle", Joshi tweeted "Millions of fighters sacrificed their lives for India's Freedom. Congress, which pretends to mean 'history of freedom struggle', has done a gross insult to the fighters of this country and is trying to distort true history".

BJP USED AGENCIES TO TOPPLE MVA: JARKIHOLI

Belagavi: KPCC Working president Satish Jarkiholi has alleged that BJP was consistently trying to topple the coalition government in Maharashtra from day one but finally succeeded in roping in Shiv Sena MLAs to achieve a majority by exerting pressure on them via central government agencies like IT and ED. Jarkiholi told media persons in Gokak on Saturday that BJP went closer toward toppling the Uddhav Thackeray-led government twice in the last two years but could not take the rebel' Shiv Sena MLAs into confidence then, but later the saffron party decided to wield the agencies, he reiterated. Although the BJP leadership was keen on forming the government with Shiv Sena but Thackeray was not ready and so, the party eventually found an alternative in Shiv Sena rebel leaders to realise their objective. Commenting on the controversial statement of former BJP spokesperson Nupur Sharma which triggered violence, he said the BJP should take her remarks seriously and ensure that peace is undisturbed. Leaders should be cautious and balanced, he added.

RAMU PATIL @Bengaluru

A GOOD show in the last few polls, including the Legislative Council polls from the Teachers and Graduates constituencies, has helped boost the morale of Congress leaders. KPCC president DK Shivakumar, who was in New Delhi earlier this week to discuss the party strategy with senior leaders, including Rahul Gandhi, said the party is confident of coming to power in the state, and they do not want to lose this opportunity. Excerpts.

Ex-AICC president Rahul Gandhi held extensive discussions with you and ex-chief minister Siddaramaiah in Delhi for two days. What was discussed?
The All-India Congress Committee conducted a detailed survey on the current status of the party, strengths, weaknesses, issues to be taken up and the government's failures that we need to highlight. It also looked at promises made by the government, but not fulfilled. All these issues were discussed in detail. Some sections of society that had moved away from the party are now gravitating towards us. Our numbers are improving and our leaders are confident that we will have our government in the state without any other party's support. We don't want to lose this opportunity and we will go to the elections under collective leadership.

What are the challenges and strategies?
The strategy will depend on the needs and mood of the people. People have lost faith in the government. Teachers and Graduates constituencies (in the Council elections) consist of educated voters. The educated people in Mandya, Mysuru, Hassan and Belagavi voted for Congress. In local body constituencies (in the council elections), we did not have Mandya, Tumakuru and Kolar. We won all these seats. Even elected representatives voted for us. These are big signs of victory for Congress. We have done well in all the by-elections and we have to maintain that momentum. Corruption is high in Karnataka, and the state's image has taken a hit. The Congress will give good governance in the state.

There has been a lot of talk about Congress' internal survey. What are the findings?
It is a detailed survey that looked at issues region-wise. AICC had done own survey and from the Pradesh Congress Committee, I also got one done. We are comfortable with our numbers.

In the run-up to the polls, what are the issues the party will take up?
Every day, common people are being harassed. While their income is reducing, prices are skyrocketing. Job losses are big. Even after Covid, there is no improvement. The government is discouraging MGNREGA that helps generate employment in villages and also take up some development work. They are now asking for thumb impressions (of people working under MGNREGA) morning and evening. They are harassing the common people, including MGNREGA workers. We will take up all the issues.

Is there a competition between Siddaramaiah and you for the CM's post?
There is no such thing and we all first want the party to come to power. If the media or the other parties are indeed talking about such a competition, that means there is a feeling among people that Congress is coming to power.

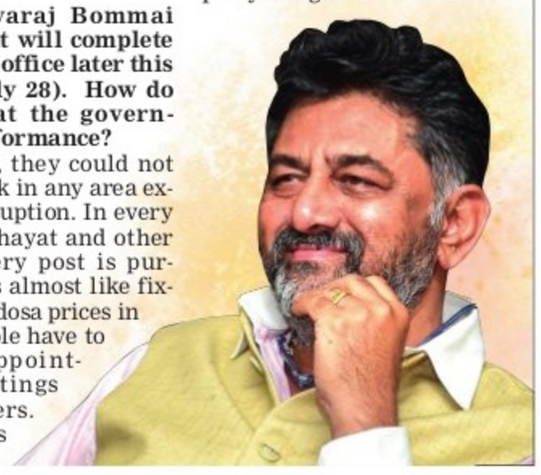
The Basavaraj Bommai government will complete one year in office later this month (July 28). How do you look at the government's performance?
In one year, they could not make a mark in any area except in corruption. In every taluk, panchayat and other offices, every post is purchased. It is almost like fixing idli and dosa prices in hotels. People have to pay for appointments, postings and transfers. When was the situation this bad?

In Chintan Shivir, there was a discussion on "One Family One Ticket". Will that be implemented in the Assembly polls?
Let's see. Many people have worked for the party and we have to respect them. We groom our leaders and some of them are important. We have to look at all aspects.

Q&A

Why is Congress hitting the streets protesting against the Enforcement Directorate action against its leaders, instead of fighting it legally?
They are using these agencies for their political gains. Such cases are registered only against leaders of Congress and other opposition parties, but not against any BJP leader. They want to shut our mouth by using ED, CBI and Income Tax departments. Fifty per cent of officers within these agencies too disapprove of such action, but they have to follow instructions from their masters.

You took out a big rally demanding implementation of the Mekedatu project. What next?
I was expecting Jal Shakti Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat to make an announcement on the project during his visit to Karnataka (on Friday), but it was not done. It is not enough that the government allotted Rs 1,000 crore for the project in the budget, they have to get an NOC and start the work. Let the government take an all-party delegation to Delhi.



Yashwant Sinha to seek votes from Cong leaders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

YASHWANT Sinha, the presidential candidate for the opposition, who arrived in the city on Saturday evening, will attend the Congress Legislature Party (CLP) meeting to seek votes from the party's MLAs and MPs on Sunday.

The 84-year-old former Union minister, a close confidant of former PM late Atal Bihari Vajpayee, was received by a group of Congress leaders, including Council's chief whip Prakash Rathod, legislature party secretary Tukaram, KPCC vice-president Ashok Pattan and Sudheendra at the HAL Airport.

Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah will chair the CLP meeting at a hotel in the city where senior leaders, including the leader of opposition in the Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge and KPCC president DK Shivakumar, will be present.

Post lunch, Sinha will leave for New Delhi at 4 pm and it is unclear if he will meet leaders from other parties, including JDS supremo and former PM HD Deve Gowda, who shares a good rapport with Telangana CM K Chandrashekar Rao.

Sinha has the backing of Rao, who gave the former a rousing welcome in Hyderabad on Saturday. His candidature is also supported by Congress chief Sonia Gandhi and West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee. "After a day full of wonderful interactions in Telangana, I have arrived in Bengaluru, where I will spend the next one day meeting legislators," he tweeted.

Sinha has managed to garner the support of AIMIM, apart from TRS in Telangana, but in Karnataka the JDS leadership has promised to back NDA candidate Droupadi Murmu as Deve Gowda was impressed by her candidature.

When Murmu had called seeking an appointment with him, Gowda had reportedly replied that it was unnecessary.

BJP's choice of Murmu will bolster democracy: Vishwanath

Mysuru: BJP MLC AH Vishwanath has hailed the BJP for fielding tribal woman Droupadi Murmu as its Presidential candidate, and said that the move will strengthen democracy and regain the faith of the common people. He told media persons that Murmu is an educated women and has been an MLA, Minister, and Governor.

Expressing displeasure over Congress leader KV Rajanna's comment on the ex-PM HD Deve Gowda, he said it is unfair to criticize Deve Gowda who has contributed to the image of the state and country, and added that political discourse should not target anyone's health.

THE university officials are now writing letters to Kannada organisations in Delhi, US, Australia, Dubai and other countries. "All we need are resource persons/artistes and suitable infrastructure. They can write to us and we will place it before our Local Inquiry Committee for approval. Once approved, we can sign an MoU. They can take classes, both theory and practical, and the certificates will be issued by the university. It is the first of its kind. We want to extend this across the globe," he added.

University functions under the Department of Higher Education and some of the courses they offer have been included in the syllabus designed under the National Education Policy.

The university has also published an exclusive dictionary of folk words and has published more than 200 books. It also offers PhD courses. However, they do not have permanent staff. "We have 70 sanctioned staff. But they have not been recruited on a regular basis even after ten years. The annual grants vary between Rs 50 lakh and Rs 70 lakh which is not sufficient," sources from university said.

Farmers to lay siege to CM's house over pricing

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Shivamogga

THE Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha members will lay siege to CM's residence in Bengaluru on Monday over various demands including fixing price of ₹4,500 per tonne of sugarcane and release of pending amount.

In a release, Sangha stated the sugarcane growers are reeling under unscientific pricing, cheating while weighing, and delay in release of due amount. The central government has taken a stand which will only benefit sugar factories, they alleged, and pointed out that the Centre had promised to double farmers' income but the production cost has doubled due to jump in prices of fertilisers.

The government has failed to implement the recommendations of the M S Swaminathan commission, they said, and now demand Rs 4,500 per tonne. The Centre has not announced the minimum support price for sugarcane for the past four years, while many sugarcane factories in North Karnataka are run by by BJP, Congress and JDS leaders, some of whom are ministers. These factories are procuring sugarcane from farmers below the Fair and Remunerative Price (FRP), they alleged, and said that farmers are being denied their money on time to which the government has turned a blind eye.

Bill pain

In 2017, when K S Puttannaiah was MLA, the government had promised to waive off the bills. However, the present government is forcing the farmers to pay the bills, lodging cases and disconnecting power supply to houses.

Clear picture on NEP by December, says Nagesh

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mangaluru

PRIMARY and Secondary Education Minister BC Nagesh on Saturday said a clear picture on the implementation of National Education Policy for school education in the state will emerge by December this year.

He was speaking on the sidelines of a workshop organised for principals of PU colleges in Dakshina Kannada on 'NEP-2020 Opportunities and Challenges' at Shakthi PU College. Earlier, addressing the gathering, he said the present education system has been successful to some extent, but it was far below expectations. It was presumed that if all are educated, it will lead to self-sustainability, eradicate poverty and ensure peace in society, but unfortunately, incidents of divorce, number of mental patients and old age homes increased, all which indicate flaws in our education system, he added.

He said that many professionals, like doctors and others, lack the passion towards their jobs as they have chosen their field only because of the demand. On the other hand, even premier institutions, like IISc, do not get enough students to conduct research, he said, adding that NEP will try to solve all these issues.

A participant sought to know whether NEP has any mechanism to assess the teaching skills of teachers as they are recruited through exams, he said NEP will have a provision for capacity building among teachers.

On the textbook controversy, he said that lessons on social reformer Narayana Guru and poet Kayyara Kinhanna Rai have not been left out from the textbooks.

Farmers see red over GST on milk products

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

Farmers in Karnataka have strongly opposed the GST Council's decision to impose a tax on milk products like lassi, curd, paneer and buttermilk as well as on agriculture equipment. "The government, which has not hiked the tax on racing and gambling, has targeted the farming community and milk producers," said Kurubur Shanthakumar, president, State Sugar Cane Growers Association on Saturday.

He said the Union Government has failed to keep up its promise to implement the Swaminathan Committee report and is now squeezing farmers by imposing GST on dairy products and imposing tax on irrigation pumps, sprayers and other equipment that will burden farmers who are already reeling from crash in prices of produce, crop losses and rise in cost of production. "We have decided to register a protest with Union Minister Nirmala Seetharaman and will submit a memorandum to Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai appealing him to exempt Nandini products and agriculture equipment from GST," he said.

He also said sugarcane growers will stage protests in all districts and taluks on Monday and Tuesday demanding that the government fix the minimum price of cane as the cost of production has increased.

TOPPLE MY GOVT, SEE WHAT HAPPENS TO BJP'S, DARES KCR

Flays party for 'power-hungry' gameplan, pulling down elected govts in nine states

V V BALAKRISHNA @ Hyderabad

APPARENTLY stung by BJP leaders' grandstanding that they would do a Maharashtra in Telangana, TRS president and Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao on Saturday dared the saffron party to pull down the TRS government in the state.

"If you bring down the TRS government, we will topple the Central government, ridding the people of the BJP rule for good," Chandrashekar Rao said.

The Chief Minister said: "Several Union Ministers, who are in Hyderabad, are saying that they will topple the TRS government as they did in Maharashtra. It is okay. We are also waiting for the same. Then we will bring yours down (Modi government) in Delhi. From crisis comes a revolution," Rao said at a meeting of TRS MPs and MLAs, organised here on Saturday to introduce the Opposition's presidential candidate Yashwant Sinha.

Lighting into Modi, Rao said: "Modi is killing democracy every day. He is destroying the federal structure of the country. We have over 100 MLAs and our friendly party (read AIMIM) has seven MLAs in 119 Assembly. The BJP leaders are still saying that they will pull down my government," Rao said, in an effort to expose the BJP's "power-hungry" gameplan.

While posing several questions to Modi, including an answer to the failure of doubling the income of farmers, Rao wanted him to answer all these questions at the two-day BJP's National Executive meeting currently underway in Hyderabad.

Rao said: "Our Prime Minister is coming to Hyderabad today. He is all set to launch a tirade against us. Even then, it does not matter. In a democracy, everyone has the right to express his or her opinion. I know Modi always makes allegations against the Opposition leaders. He is here to make such allegations again against us. But please answer our questions too."

Chandrasekhar Rao alleged that Modi had failed to implement the election assurances. "He had said "meethi meethi" words ahead of the last elections. After the polls, he is uttering "jhoothi jhoothi" words," Rao said, and came down on the BJP for pulling down elected governments in nine states.

He taunted Modi, asking: "What happened to Bhrastachar Mukt Bharat? Why is Rupee falling against the US dollar every day? Why are farmers facing humiliation in this country? Why has your government failed to implement election promises? If you are not guilty, answer all these questions in the BJP's national executive meeting."

BJP resolves to boost Garib Kalyan schemes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

TAKING forward the success of the Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Yojna, the BJP has resolved to give further impetus to the bouquet of schemes, as its outcomes were clearly visible during the most challenging times since 2019, revealed Union Minister for Education, Skill Development and Entrepreneurship Dharmendra Pradhan on Saturday.

Briefing the media on the first day of BJP's two-day national executive meeting, Pradhan revealed that Union Defence Minister Rajnath Singh has proposed the economic resolution to further the schemes that form part of this comprehensive relief package for the welfare of the poor.

The proposal was supported by Union Minister for Commerce and Industries Piyush Goyal and Haryana Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar.

Pradhan said that the PM Gati Shakti scheme, designed to give impetus to implementation of infrastructural projects by spending ₹100 lakh crore, was not just an ambitious plan, but could create 10 lakh jobs, including many in the global service industry, electronic goods industry, mines and metal sectors, and so on.

Facing a barrage of questions from the media on the prevailing issues like unemployment and inflation in the country, he said that the unprecedented crises fueled by the Covid-19 pandemic and the Ukraine-Russia war has pushed major economic powers into doldrums.

"Due to the energy crisis, global prices of commodities have skyrocketed. In spite of that, the growth rate of the country in 2021-22 was 8.7 per cent. Foreign direct investments and exports have gone up considerably. Through Goods and Service Taxes and Production Linked Incentive schemes, India has established itself as the sixth most robust economy in the world. Despite the legacy of the previous government we inherited in 2014, we were still able to see double-digit growth due to the confidence the people had in our government," Pradhan claimed.

He also announced that the Agnipath armed forces recruitment scheme has received appreciation from the NEC, and that the Centre planned to fill 10 lakh jobs within the period of a year-and-a-half.

Officials keeping eye on tiger's movement

THE enraged tiger charged at the crowd and injured Rajashekar (35) in the leg. Rajashekar was immediately taken to Gundlupet Hospital and was later shifted to KR Hospital in Mysuru.

Bandipur Tiger Reserve director P Ramesh Kumar told TNIE, "Both villagers have received minor injuries. However, as the veterinary doctor of Bandipur is engaged in an operation to capture a elephant in Sakleshpura, he will be called to Bandipur immediately," he said. Ramesh said a team of forest officials is camping in the village and monitoring the tiger's movements.

"We will watch whether the tiger returns to the woods. If it does not, then we will decide whether to chase it back to the forest or capture it. We will take up the operation on Sunday morning," he said.

Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha's Gundlupet unit president Mahadevappa told TNSE that the tiger has been prowling in the area and surrounding villages for the past few months. "We had complained to the forest department after a few farmers sighted the tiger moving in the fields. Recently, the forest department staff had installed a trap cage in the village but without bait. So they failed to catch the tiger. Now it has attacked villagers and killed a cow. We want the foresters to immediately capture the tiger and release it in Mysuru Zoo," he said.

P C GEORGE ARRESTED IN SEXUAL ASSAULT CASE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ T'Puram

CONTROVERSIAL Kerala politician P C George was on Saturday arrested on the basis of a sexual assault complaint filed by an accused in the solar panel case, two months after he was arrested and released on bail for hate speech. The seventy-year-old George, who represented the Poonjar constituency in the state Assembly for 33 years, was taken into custody by the Cantonment police from a guest house in the capital city this afternoon in a dramatic move.

At that time, the senior politician was being grilled by a team of Crime Branch personnel in connection with a conspiracy allegedly hatched to defame the Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan in smuggling charges levelled by gold smuggling case accused Swapna Suresh. According to police sources, the sudden move to arrest George was made based on a secret statement given by the accused and according to a written complaint filed directly by her at the local police station here in this regard. As per the complaint, the senior politician had allegedly behaved in a way insulting her modesty on February 10 at a guest house here and sent her indecent messages in mobile phone. Soon after filing an FIR over the charges, a team led by the Cantonment Assistant Commissioner took George into custody.

PC George speaks to the media before his arrest on Saturday

He has been charged under IPC Section 354 (assault or criminal force to woman with intent to outrage her modesty) and 354 (a) (sexual harassment), they said. However, George rejected the charges and claimed that he had not done anything indecent and it was a false complaint.

A former chief whip while the Congress-led UDF was in power, George also alleged that the accused came up with a complaint now as he did not give a statement in favour of her in a case she had filed against former Chief Minister Oommen Chandy. While speaking to the reporters outside the police station, the politician again courted controversy by insulting a woman TV journalist who questioned him naming the accused, which is illegal.

This is vendetta by CM Pinarayi Vijayan and the complainant woman who had earlier sought help from me. The complainant woman had requested me to give a witness statement to CBI in the sexual harassment case filed by her against former CM Oommen Chandy, but, I refused. This is her revenge for that

Drama ends in anti-climax

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ TPuram

THE third attempt by the state police to jail former Poonjar MLA P C George -- the bete noire of Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan – in two months fell flat on Saturday night as a court here granted him bail in a sexual harassment case registered by the Museum police in the afternoon.

The Judicial First Class Magistrate Court-III found the arguments of George, who was taken into custody within two hours of receiving the complaint, credible and expressed doubts about the veracity of the plaint filed by the woman who is the prime accused in the solar scam. The police had slapped IPC Sections 354 and 354 (a) that dealt with using criminal force against woman with intent to outrage her modesty.

At 12.40pm, the woman complained before the Museum SI that she was molested by George on February 10 this year, when she visited him at the Government Guest House, Thycaud, as per his invitation. She said she had gone there with her son but George ensured that the minor son waited outside while both of them were in the room. The police registered an FIR at 1.29pm after verifying the veracity of the complaint in lightning speed. In the next hour, the police took the custody of the 71-year-old leader, who was present before another team of the state police in connection with the probe into a conspiracy case.

IN THIS VILLAGE, LOCALS TAKE TURNS TO KEEP WATCH FOR QUAKES AT NIGHT

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

HODDHETTI Sudheer Kumar, a resident of Karike village in Bagamanadala, is unable to sleep at night, being in constant fear of earthquakes. Not only him, many other residents in his village and in five other neighbouring ones, are kept awake at night due to frequent tremors.

They are constantly on alert. "We are our own security. We have decided that one person from each house take turns to keep watch at night to alert others in case of an earthquake. As soon as we will feel any tremor or hear a sound, we raise an alarm and everyone rushes out of their houses. We do not want to die in our sleep," Kumar said.

The fear among the residents of Karike, Sampaje, Peraje, Chembu and surrounding villages is palpable. They recollect the Nepal earthquake and fear the same could occur here. Their fear only heightened after they experienced an earthquake at 1.15 am on Friday.

They are not convinced by the repeated assurances of officials that there is nothing to worry. "It feels like we are sitting on a boat that is floating in turbulent water and we fear we will all drown.

Every time there is an earthquake, we hear a loud sound like a quarry blast which is followed by tremors. So the moment we her any blast, we run to open areas. While the adults run out, the worry is regarding senior citizens and children who need help," Kumar added.

Another resident said that since their homes are near elevated regions, they fear that they may collapse due to landslips. "The 2008 earthquake was big, but it occurred one time and stopped. But now it is happening every day. In one week, we experienced it seven times. People are also worried to go to work in their fields as we do not want to leave our loved ones behind. We do not know what will happen to us the next moment," the resident of Chembu village said.

'Quarries a cause of worry'

ANOTHER member of the inspection team from Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre said portable devices to record seismic activities have been kept at Chembu to record quakes within a radius of 8 km.

A seismic expert said: "Since Deccan Plateau is the oldest and hardest rock formation, one cannot relax assuming that nothing would happen. The rising number of quarries is a matter of worry, too. Western Ghats is fragile and is prone to disasters. Kodagu is an alarm of disasters in the making."

A seismologist explained the illegal quarrying which used to happen in the reserve forest near the region could be one of the causes. "Even as the local administration stopped it eight months ago, gaps in the underground layers have already been created. If you see, the depth (of the earthquake epicenter) is 10 km and below. So unless the gaps are filled, the earthquakes will occur."

XI'S 'REBORN' HONG KONG TAG & CHINA'S TAIWAN AGENDA

THE THIRD EYE

SHANKKAR AIYAR
Author of The Gated Republic, Aadhaar: A Biometric History of India's 12 Digit Revolution, and Accidental India
shankkar.aiyar@gmail.com

FOR the first time in 29 months, China's President Xi Jinping stepped out of mainland China this week. His destination: Hong Kong. The occasion: the 25th Anniversary of the handover of Hong Kong to China. It was a victory lap, a celebration of conquest. Addressing the orchestrated ceremonies Xi Jinping said "Hong Kong has been reborn from the ashes".

The observation carries the ring of truth. The Hong Kong of the yesteryears is virtually dead. Chris Patten, the last British Governor of Hong Kong, put it bluntly. "China has catastrophically and comprehensively broken its word on Hong Kong". In the quarter of a century, every promise has been dismantled brick by brick. Democracy in Hong Kong has been decapitated. The people of the city were promised that Hong Kong would enjoy autonomy and be governed under the principle of 'one country, two systems' for 50 years till 2047. In 2019 China enacted a law enabling the extradition of activists from Hong Kong to the mainland. In 2021 it amended election laws compelling contestants to pass the filter of the 'patriots' law. In 2022, under Xi Jinping, China has already inducted the 2047 template.

The harsh truth is the guarantees of the guarantors simply didn't add up to much. In 1992 Mitch McConnell, the Senator from Kentucky, moved the US Hong Kong Policy Act 1992. It "Authorises the President" to suspend the special status conferred on Hong Kong if it was not privileged with a "sufficiently autonomous" administration. The law couldn't quite deliver in the new millennium.

The threats and sanctions issued by the Trump Administration under the Hong Kong Autonomy Act of 2020 had little effect on China. The United Kingdom, signatory of the Sino-British Treaty of 1984 could at best offer rhetoric and refuge – a five-year visa leading to citizenship to those with British National Overseas status. The bitter reality is that in 1997 China's GDP was around $950 billion. In 2020 it had touched $15 trillion. The leverage presumed in 1997 was simply not there. In the summer of 1992, McConnell, promoting the virtues of the Hong Kong Policy Act, observed that 'Economic development undermines central political control, which will bring about the social and political reforms we all want to see in China.' This articulation symbolises the wishful thinking the West harboured about China for decades. The Chinese view this very expectation of the US, of a change in the political system, as the single biggest threat.

The timing of Xi Jinping's first outing to Hong Kong merits geopolitical attention. It comes just months before the Chinese President makes his pitch for an indefinite tenure in power. The context is critical. The world, particularly the West, is preoccupied with battling the consequences of the energy and food shortages caused by Russia's invasion of Ukraine. The choice of words — 'reborn from the ashes' — is ominous, suggesting the lengths that China may be willing to go to achieve its next goal — the 'reunification' of Taiwan.

The certification of Hong Kong reveals the marking of a milestone. Does it signal the pathway to Taiwan? It has been said that Xi Jinping is a rational actor — they said that of Russian President Vladimir Putin too before the Ukraine invasion. The incursions, the unprovoked attacks and the standoff on India's borders certainly do not authenticate the perceptions of Xi Jinping being rational.

The hypothesis that China would be cautioned by the global response to the invasion is fragile and countered by the argument that the pre-occupation of the West on one front could be viewed as an opportune moment. The slowdown in China's economy could preclude the acceleration of plans. Equally, there is the conventional theory that angst at home is best addressed with a greater nationalistic cause. Questions and answers are mired in a minefield of competing compulsions.

Critical to the conflict is the stance of the United States. Its strategic ambiguity rests on neither denying Taiwan is an independent entity nor supporting Taiwan's independence. US President Joe Biden has compounded confusion with his remarks on militarily defending Taiwan if China attacks it. While the White House walked back the remarks saying its position remains unchanged, Biden has moved the needle more than once.

At the recent G7 and NATO meetings on the Ukraine-Russia war, President Biden repeatedly invoked the cliché 'whatever it takes' for however long it takes. What is 'whatever' when it comes to dealing with China. The QUAD it is still in the making. The freshly minted Indo-Pacific Economic Framework is more an idea and less of a plan with guardrails and guarantees. The potency of sanctions is on test and seemingly inadequate. The global supply chain is effectively the Chinese supply chain. Imports from China play a big role in subduing inflation and propelling growth in G7 economies.

The question the world must find time to address is what it will take to deter China — if and when it moves on Taiwan. Clearly, the presence of Korea and Japan in Madrid underlines the concern about rising tensions in the Indo-Pacific region. The cost of Russia's invasion of Ukraine is being paid by the poorest in the world. The price of inattention will be humongous. A conflict will split the world order wider than it is now and traumatise billions.

SAFFRON SACHEMS SWEATING IN MODI HEAT 2024

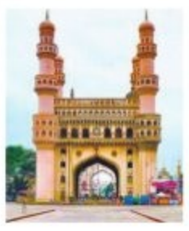
BE LOCAL AND STAY LOCAL FOR NEW LOCUS



In BJP 2.0, there is nothing called a free lunch. Saffron sachems hungry for praise have to earn it the Modi way. The party's National Executive has 80 regular members, 50 special invitees and 179 permanent invitees. Last week-end, they were all summoned to Hyderabad for a two-day pow wow. And to paint the city saffron. Usual resolutions eulogising Prime Minister Modi's stellar performance were adopted. But before that, a select group of members was chosen for a special assignment. When they landed, it was obvious that the pristine habiliments of 120 saffron senapatis were marked with the godhul of semi-urban and rural India. They had previously received a communication from party general secretary Tarun Chugh, directing each member to reach Hyderabad ten days in advance and proceed to 119 individually allotted Assembly constituencies, where they would spend 48 hours getting familiar with local issues and interests. For the first time in BJP history, National Executive members are being asked to engage in rural mass contact programmes in Telangana and hobnob with the cadres. Each muckety-muck had to mingle with local office bearers and heads of frontal organizations. They were told to fraternise with the local RSS-in-charge to suss out the ground situation. Many of the saffron sultans, being used to aircon luxury, felt the heat in more than one way. While the purpose of the exercise was to connect national policy makers and cadres, the effort was only semi-successful thanks to the language barrier. Many of the visiting leaders were from the North, the West and the Northeast, and the Telugu karyakartas hardly spoke Hindi. Moreover, all Telangana cities don't have five-star hotels. The weary mid-level panjandrums were forced to spend the night either at the home of a wealthy party man, a small-town hotel or guest house; though some big guns were assigned constituencies close to Hyderabad for them to travel back and forth daily. The party's top brass wishes to boost its organisation in the state where it expects electoral dividends. With the Congress on Prozac, the BJP is targeting Telangana as its second stable after Karnataka in Modi's Southern Ashvamedha. Big enchiladas such as the PM, J P Nadda and Amit Shah are frequent flyers to the City of Nizams of late. By holding its national executive meet in Hyderabad after 18 years, the BJP is signaling to local luminaries that the saffron eagle has landed and it is open season for confabs and crossovers. The first catch of the day: former Congress MP and the richest Telugu politician Konda Vishweshwar Reddy. The BJP had scored only one Assembly seat out of the 119 it contested last time. This time, it's betting on anti-incumbency to hobble KCR and his outfit TRS. The entire show was curetted like a South Indian filmy potboiler with Modi as the triumphant hero. In the absence of any local leader, the BJP turned the coming battle into Modi vs KCR.

MODI'S MANTRIS BECOME RURAL PROBLEM SOLVERS

The Prime Minister has not spared his Cabinet ministers from doing party work in addition to their expected duties. The BJP calculates over 100 sitting MPs will lose in 2024; to compensate and aggregate, the leadership has decided to target 180 Parliamentary constituencies where it either never won, or had lost after winning once in the past six general elections. For the last two months, over 60 Union Ministers and Ministers of State have been deployed to stump in these constituencies on a regular basis. Each mantri has been given the responsibility for three seats with an order to establish contact with local party leaders, and identify and solve issues that can turn the tide in the BJP's favour. Since the visitors are ministers, local officials attend their meetings as part of protocol. A high-profile ministerial visit in a rural constituency does create a buzz. But most importantly, by virtue of being Central ministers, they can solve pending issues such as bad roads and faulty implementation of national schemes like MNREGA, PM Awas Yojna, etc., to create a favorable environment for the government. Their instructions are to send their reports to the national party office and the PMO. Instead of Dimapur coming to Delhi for problem resolutions, Delhi is landing in Dimapur with solutions. Ministers have been told in no uncertain terms. In the new BJP, Modi Mantra comes first, and Family and friends later.

WILL MERIT OR NEED DECIDE VEEP?

For Modi, optics play an important role in the selection of individuals for key appointments such as the President of India, Chief Ministers and Union Ministers. Once he is convinced about the loyalty of a candidate, his team assesses the public empathy and connectivity of the would-be finalist. His choice of Droupadi Murmu for Rashtrapati Bhavan sends multiple messages. By amplifying Murmu's poor, tribal background, merit has become demerit by default. The implication is that she was chosen not because she deserved to be the head of the state of the world's largest democracy, but only thanks to her caste. Hence, saffron high priests are struggling to find someone to play both a complementary role to the President and perform the mandatory balancing act in the Rajya Sabha. Caste, community and regional compulsions have once again gripped the ruling establishment as the criteria to find a suitable Vice-President; Venkaiah Naidu packs his bags this month. The BJP is comfortably placed to get its Veep elected. But will Modi pick his candidate based on his capability to run the Rajya Sabha as its Chairman, or will he pander to caste, religion and other considerations? The outgoing VP was a veteran both in the party and the government. The Opposition has many talented and experienced members in the Rajya Sabha who can pose a serious challenge. In the current political climate, could the PM choose a Muslim? The possibilities are Ghulam Nabi Azad, Arif Mohammed Khan and Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi. Azad is the front runner, followed by Khan who is fluent in Sanskrit and has solid Middle East connections. Naqvi is the only Muslim who has stuck with the party for three decades and is acceptable to all. Or if Modi's preference is a hardcore RSS heavy hitter, any of the governors or an iconic corporate, literary, legal or public service luminary is on the roster of readies.

PS: Once the new President and Vice-President are sworn-in, a final reshuffle of the Union cabinet is likely, keeping the 2024 Lok Sabha elections in mind. A review of ministerial performances has started. On the watch list are the mantris who worked more on social media than in their ornate offices.

LEST CRYPTO GO THE DUTCH TULIP WAY

OPINION

KARAN BHASIN
Author is New York-based economist
karanbhasin95@gmail.com

THERE are several interesting economic developments that merit a column. Each of which might help demystify some of the developments that are impacting households the world over. But equally important is to discuss an event in the not-so-distant past.

To be precise, we are talking about the Dutch Tulip Mania which started in 1634 and ended in February 1637. The Dutch Tulip Mania is one of this author's favourite bubble stories and not so because it is considered as the first recorded speculative bubble story, but more so because it pertained to a perishable commodity such as the Tulip becoming a speculative instrument.

The introduction of tulips to Europe occurred sometime in the 16th century. Netherlands saw the tulips become immensely popular and it began to be widely cultivated. The saturated petal colour added to its charm as it quickly became a status symbol. With the ordinary tulip becoming a luxury item, its prices increased substantially. Their popularity also pushed professional growers to pay higher amounts to get tulip bulbs. The increasing demand for tulips from France resulted in speculators entering the market leading to the creation of a futures market. With a steady increase in prices, the bubble peaked sometime between 1636 and early 1637. By February 1637, tulip bulb prices had collapsed abruptly and,therefore, the tulip trade came to a halt.

Many regarded tulips and their bulbs as an investment instrument as they argued that it had value because of limited supplies — or because someone was willing to buy them in exchange for some money. In that sense, yes, tulips did attain some speculative value for a brief period. However, several investors had mistakenly attributed the speculative value to the intrinsic value of the asset. Consequently, when liquidity constraints or market participation dipped, the speculative value was the first casualty. With the dip in speculative value, there was a frenzy and the bubble burst leading to widespread destruction of fortune.

Some may say that the similarities between cryptocurrencies and the Dutch Tulip Mania are overstated. Some may even find them to be a coincidence. There have been several events in the recent past where we have noticed that commodities and instruments see a wide divergence between their intrinsic value and the value that a speculator ascribes to them. It is useful to remember that such divergence may last for a couple of years, sometimes even for a decade.

> This is not a coincidence but by design as markets are nothing but an aggregation of individual households each deciding independently at the same time. Therefore, the behaviour boils down in most cases to greed and fear. It is a combination of these individual decisions that creates bubbles and bursts them from time to time.

Ultimately, the markets will eventually be able to price assets appropriately.

This is not a coincidence but by design as markets are nothing but an aggregation of individual households each deciding independently at the same time. Therefore, the behaviour boils down in most cases to greed and fear. It is a combination of these individual decisions that creates bubbles and bursts them from time to time. Easy money policies do play a role in the process, but fundamentally it boils down to human behaviour. This behaviour was responsible for attributing a far higher value to Tulip Bulbs in the past and more recently in attributing value to cryptocurrencies that have little to no intrinsic value.

The arguments presented over the last few years — one of which is that cryptocurrencies are assets and not currencies — are very similar to the use of Tulip bulbs for speculation purposes. The recent correction in prices of cryptocurrencies should therefore not come as a surprise. The Tulip Mania story is an important reminder of how any commodity could be turned into a speculative instrument.

Harmony important

This has reference to spirited effort for communal harmony (July 01). The initiative of Panakkad Syed Sadiqu Ali Shihab Thangal, the Kerala state president of Indian Union Muslim League, soliciting suggestions from Hindu and Christian leaders, along with writers and representatives of various organisations to foster communal harmony, should be appreciated and encouraged. This assumes importance as it can counter any disinformation campaign by vested interests to breach communal peace.

Necessary rebuke

The Supreme Court rightly rebuked former BJP spokesperson Nupur Sharma for her highly controversial and reprehensible comments on Prophet Muhammad. The court has rightly remarked that her loose tongue has set the entire country on fire. Whether she will apologise to the nation for her indiscreet and intemperate comments by appearing on a TV channel, as asked by the apex court, remains to be seen. The onus is now on the BJP, which is also the ruling party of the country, to ensure that she dutifully complies with the court direction.

Kudos to diplomacy

India's high-profile diplomatic strategy while dealing with Russia despite its war with Ukraine imposed even as the world leaders have denounced Putin's actions in no uncertain termshas paid us dividends. Maharashtra uncertainty

This is with reference to "Shinde made CM to snatch Sena from the Thackerays (July 2). In a few days, the remaining 10 Shiv Sena legislators will switch over to Shinde Sena leaving behind father, son and Sanjay Raut. Congress party lost identity in one more state after MP and Punjab. Now, Sharad Pawar's tricks cannot take his Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) any where in the state and outside. Shinde must work as per the diktats of Fadnavis, Shah and Modi and keep his flock in good humour. The Damocles sword of withdrawal of support by the BJP and jumping over the fence with disgruntled party workers to Uddhav camp will be hanging over his head in addition to unending legal battles for party identity. Kumaraswamy with 37 legislators was made Chief Minister by Congress and now Shinde is sailing in the same boat with 40 followers with big brother BJP at the steering wheel . It will be uncertain period for politics in Maharashtra and anything can happen any day. By the time of writing of this letter, the rebel MLAs were returning to Mumbai to be present in the state assembly for possible floor test on Monday. There were also repprts of exercising anti-defection law on these revel MLAs. In such a scenario, things look more uncertain than ever. Let's wait and watch till the next drama.

LONG & SHORT OF TAXATION

The Goods and Services Tax (GST) regime completed five years on June 30 but continues to be a friction point between the Centre and the states, especially those ruled by the Opposition. States have been clamouring for compensation mechanism to be continued for five more years while the Opposition, especially the Congress, is still harping on the "birth defects" of the taxation plan. Amidst all this, the GST Council a few days ago increased tax rates on many items and removed exemptions for several mass consumption items to 'simplify' the rate structure. Here's a look at how this 'rate rationalisation' will impact our pockets:

Costlier menu

Pre-packed and labelled meat (except frozen), fish, curd, lassi, paneer, honey, dried leguminous vegetables, papad, dried makhana, wheat and other cereals, wheat flour and jaggery puffed rice (muri) will be costlier as they have been moved from 12% tax slab 18% slab

Banking blues

An 18% GST will also be levied on fee charged by banks for the issue of cheques (loose or in book form)

Not so bright

LED lights, fixtures and lamps have become popular as they are considered to consume less energy and now they will be become more expensive as GST has been raised from 12% to 18%

Pricier items

Power-driven pumps; machines used to clean, sort or grade, seed, grain pulses; wet grinders are also among items on which we will now have to pay higher taxes —18%

Higher medical cost

Room rent (excluding ICU) exceeding ₹5,000 per day per patient charged by a hospital shall be taxed to the extent of amount charged for the room at 5%

Not a budget stay any more

Hotel rooms with tariff below ₹1,000 per day were exempted from GST so far but now they 12% tax will be charged

Solar water heater is another item on which GST has been increased from

5% to 12%

Vehicles

Renting of truck, goods carriage where the cost of fuel is included, and electric vehicles whether or not fitted with a battery pack will also be under

5% tax

EXEMPTIONS FROM TAX REGIME

- Unpacked, unlabelled and unbranded items
- Transport of passengers from air and from Northeastern states and Bagdogra
- Intrastate supplies through e-commerce portals. The suppliers will not have to obtain GST registration, if their turnover is lower than

₹40L & ₹20L

DROUPADI MURMU

HOW NDA PREZ NOMINEE WON FRIENDS & 'OPPN'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bhubaneswar/Ranchi

SOURAV ROY

THERE is something extraordinary about Droupadi Murmu, the ruling NDA nominee for the Presidential polls due July 18. First, look at what Mamata Banerjee, who had called a meeting of Opposition leaders on the selection of the Presidential candidate on June 30, has said. "The BJP asked for our suggestion but did not tell us who its nominee was," she said while acknowledging Murmu has a better chance of winning.

Most opposition leaders have already endorsed Murmu's nomination, paving the way for her to become the first tribal President of the country.

The Janata Dal (S) and Shiromani Akali Dal have openly come out in support of Murmu. "She already has the sufficient backing and does not need our support, but she has nevertheless asked for our support, and that is a sign of her goodness," said JD(S) leader and former Karnataka chief minister H D Kumaraswamy. He said he understood Murmu's "life journey, her background, the struggles she has undergone, her rise from a downtrodden community."

Shiromani Akali Dal chief Sukhbir Singh Badal met Murmu in Chandigarh. "She (Murmu) has emerged as a symbol of the poor and tribal segments in the country," read a resolution passed by the SAD's top leadership.

The Congress has remained unimpressed, though, saying Murmu would be a rubber stamp President. Yashwant Sinha too has spoken about a "thinking and speaking" person to be the occupant of Rashtrapati Bhavan.

Amid the debate, here's how Murmu's CV reads: Date of birth: June 20, 1958. Place of birth: Ichhaghatu village under Kusumi block of Odisha's Mayurbhanj district. Parents: Sanga Tudu & Biranchi Narayan Tudu. Tribal affiliation: Santhal. On all counts, she is going to be India's first citizen, the 'first lady.'

NEWSMAKER

Murmu already has many firsts to her credit: she was the first woman and first tribal leader from Odisha appointed as Governor of any state. She was the first woman Governor of Jharkhand and the first Governor to complete her tenure.

Himalaya: Report proposes tourism curbs & carbon tax

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

WITH the massive tourist influx, which almost doubled in the last decade, in the Himalayan region, an environment ministry report has called for regulated tourism. Plus, the report has proposed to levy carbon tax and restriction on use of vehicles in the eco-sensitive areas. The Indian Himalayan Region (IHR) is spread across Ladakh, Jammu and Kashmir, Uttarakhand, Himachal Pradesh, Sikkim, West Bengal Hills, Assam Hills, Arunachal Pradesh, Nagaland, Manipur, Mizoram, Tripura, and Meghalaya.

The region has witnessed extensive growth in the tourism industry with increased waste generation, a large number of vehicles, and waste disposal into rivers causing degradation of the soil, water, and air quality over a period of time. Tourism and rapid infrastructure development in the Himalayan ecosystem are normally blamed for contributing to several environmental challenges, including carbon emissions that lead to global warming and ultimately climate change.

Tourism & pollution in Himalayan region

The Indian Himalayan Region has witnessed extensive growth in the tourism industry with increased waste generation, a large number of vehicles, and waste disposal into rivers causing degradation of the soil, water, and air quality over a period of time.

An environment ministry report "Environmental Assessment of Tourism in the Indian Himalayan Region", has been prepared by Govind Ballabh Pant National Institute of Himalayan Environment (NIHE), Almora in compliance with a National Green Tribunal (NGT).

The report says that in Kashmir, famous lakes — Dal, Nigeen, Wular — are bearing the brunt of increasing tourists. Other IHR states face similar problems with waste generation, handling, and disposal posing a big challenge in the areas. "Establishment of regulated tourism practices with the promotion of sustainable agendas are required for the IHR. This could be achieved through maintenance of the proper tourist capacity in every tourist place of the IHR which will, in turn, minimize mainly the generation of solid waste, and pollution level in the water, air, and destruction of biodiversity," the experts recommended.

The experts suggested levying green tax on tourist vehicles, renewable energy-based vehicles, solid waste management, installation of latest equipment for air quality monitoring, and strengthening community-based tourism.

PM Modi venerated by party delegates

Hyderabad: At the two-day BJP National Executive meeting at Hyderabad's Hi-Tech City, party delegates and functionaries from across Telangana went on to spread one line after the formal meetings, that the Modi magic will conquer all, and in every state in the future. Upbeat about the PM, one of the delegates claimed that over 30,000 posters have been put up across the city, with the saffron party declaring him as the face for the assembly polls in the state in 2023, in direct fight against the TRS.

Exhibition shows Telangana history

Hyderabad: On the sideline of BJP executive meeting which began on Saturday also has a unique pavilion on its sidelines, where an exhibition of nearly 340 old and rare pictures showcases the people who fought for Telangana and laid down their lives. A visitor said, "The pictures of martyrs of nationalistic movement have also been exhibited by the BJP in order to ignite the nationalism ahead of polls." The pictures also depicted the atrocities committed against women in the state during the era of feudal power.

Khushboo upbeat about BJP win

Hyderabad: BJP leader and actor Khushboo addressed the BJP National Executive meeting in Hyderabad and highlighted the might of the party in recently concluding elections in multiple states. "After recent resounding victory in many states, we are holding the meeting with merriment, with mission, with ambition and with resolution to make a new India", said Khusboo. NEW PANDEMIC?

Zika silently spreading across India, says study

KAVITA BAJELI DATT @ New Delhi

ZIKA is silently spreading across almost all parts of India and in areas where it had never been reported earlier, thus establishing local transmission of the disease, according to scientists at the Indian Institute of Medical Research (ICMR)-National Institute of Virology (NIV) in Pune.

The study, published in Frontiers of Microbiology, said there would be an increase in Zika cases during monsoon when vector-borne diseases like dengue and chikungunya see a hike. According to the lead author, Dr Pragya Yadav, a senior scientist at ICMR-NIV, Pune, from 2017 to 2021, the presence of Zika has been reported in 16 states and union territories of India.

The study, like, a vector-borne diseases detected in newer states of India amidst the Covid-19 pandemic, said the virus, spread by daytime-active Aedes mosquitoes and has been found in Delhi, Amritsar (Punjab), Aligarh and Kanpur (Uttar Pradesh), Jaipur and Jodhpur (Rajasthan), Pune (Maharashtra), Ranchi (Jharkhand) Hyderabad (Telangana) and Thiruvananthapuram (Kerala)- places which have a high population density.

Our study indicates the spread of the Zika virus to several states of India and an urgent need to strengthen its surveillance, a study, which was published recently, said. The study said continuous and enhanced surveillance for Zika along with dengue and chikungunya with emphasis on the antenatal screening is the need of the hour.

In Punjab, private players make a killing with 'moong' procurement

HARPREET BAJWA @ New Delhi

PUNJAB farmers growing 'moong' (green gram) this year stand shortchanged. The government has failed to procure the full pulse crop at a Minimum Support Price (MSP), as promised. It has resulted in distress selling where private players have bought a bulk of the crop much below the MSP.

The government has bought only 1,450 metric tonnes of the crop until June 30 out of the total 13,690 MT that arrived in the state mandis (local markets). This procurement is almost 10% of the total crop arrivals. The distress selling is largely due to bureaucratic hurdles.

The state government for the first time started procurement of green gram at an MSP of Rs 7,275 per quintal in a move aimed at encouraging crop diversification to break the water-guzzling paddy crop cycle. However, as per government data, private players have bought around 90% of the crop arrivals at 15 to 32 per cent below the MSP.

As per data, the state government could procure the highest supply from Bathinda district (around 550 MT) followed by Barnala district (540 MT) and Ludhiana (300 MT). In contrast, private players procured around 10,000 MT from Ludhiana alone. Earlier in a statement, the state government claimed that as an affirmative response to the appeal of Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann, the farmers this year sowed the moong crop on around one lakh acres as compared to 50,000 acres last year. A yield of 4.75 lakh quintal was expected this year.

Agriculture experts say that if the moong crop was sown is around 95,000 acres across the state this year with per acre yield of around 4-5 quintals crops, it could have meant around 38,000 MT of the crop in total.

Farmers say the government has made cumbersome procedures to procure the crop on MSP, forcing them to sell the crop to private players much below the MSP. Another reason being cited for the low government procurement is the presence of more moisture than the permissible limits or broken or discoloured grain. As per norms, the moisture content should be up to 12%, shriveled grain around 3% and broken grain around 4% in the crop.

Hardeep Singh, a farmer from Jagraon, sold his crop at ₹ 6,100 per quintal to private players, which is below the MSP of ₹ 7,275.

'Pulse' of the state

The government has bought only 1,450 metric tonnes of the crop until June 30 out of the total 13,690 MT that arrived in the state mandis (local markets). This procurement is almost 10% of the total crop arrivals. The distress selling is largely due to bureaucratic hurdles.

MYTHOLOGY

Krishna-Rukmini legend to link old Gujarat-Arunachal ties

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

ANCIENT mythological connection between Gujarat and Arunachal Pradesh, the two frontiers of India, will soon revive through various cultural activities, including a Rukmini Yatra. Rukimini, according to beliefs, was the consort of Lord Krishna and belongs to Idu Mishmi tribe of Bhismaknagar, an ancient city in Arunachal Pradesh.

As part of its efforts to promote national unity and 'Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat', an initiative to promote interaction and understanding between people of different states envisioned by the Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the authority wants to encourage the people especially the youth from both states to visits sites associated to Rukmini and Krishna.

Under this ambitious 'cultural exchange plan', activities, including songs, plays, and storytelling sessions are being planned and they will be organized at the mythological sites. The Rukmini Yatra may be held around November and December depending on the weather condition. "People of Arunachal Pradesh believe that Rukmini belongs to them and they still name their daughters after Rukmini. They think that they are Yadavs and Krishna had come from Gujarat to marry Rukmini. There are sites which are related to Rukmini-Krishna tales. The PM has conceived the idea of this cultural exchange. We are planning that this should become a thread of cultural unity," said Tarun Vijay, chairman of NMA.

Recently, a team of NMA led by Vijay went to Arunachal Pradesh and held a meeting with deputy chief minister of the state Chowna Mein in which they had agreed to strengthen the age-old cultural connect between Gujarat and Arunachal through the tales of Rukmini and Krishna.

TELLING TALES

Noted Urdu writer-poet Tarannum Riyaz interweaves several narratives to reflect on women's freedom, social mores and family intrigues in her novel "Barf Aashna Parindey", which is about a Kashmiri Muslim family.

SNAKES & LADDERS: WHO WENT UP & DOWN

DEVENDRA FADNAVIS

KINGMAKER WHO BECAME DEPUTY

Widely considered the ground force behind the fall of the Aghadi government and Uddhav Thackeray's Shiv Sena, Devendra Fadnavis remained the face of the rebellion while staying at the backstage. The Maharashtra deputy chief minister has brought the BJP back in power over two years. However, the final chapter was written by the top BJP leadership in Delhi and Eknath Shinde. Fadnavis, who initially said he will not be a part of the new government, had to abide by the orders issued by the brass, and settle for the junior post. He now has to work under Shinde, who was his junior in 2014 and 2019. The decision shocked Fadnavis' followers. However, he is in power now and can use this opportunity to prove himself again with his political acumen.

EKNATH SHINDE

IN & OUT

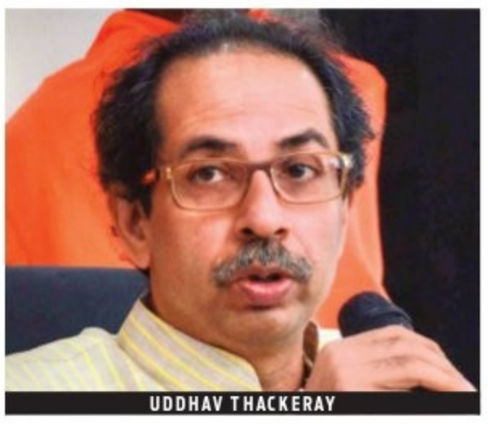
REBEL WHO ROSE

In a irony of sorts, Eknath Shinde is following in NCP chief Sharad Pawar's footsteps. The Maharashtra chief minister and leader of rebel Shiv Sena MLAs. Shinde is the second successful politician whose revolt has propped him to the top political post in the state. The first successful politician was Pawar who at the age of 38 revolted against Congress Chief Minister Vasant Dada Patil in 1978, becoming the youngest ever chief minister of Maharashtra with Janta Party support. Earlier, Chhagan Bhujbal, Narayan Rane, and Raj Thackeray had rebelled against Shiv Sena, but their move gave them only a ministry in the government. Now, Shinde faces the big test of establishing himself as a powerful leader and diminishing the Thackeray brand further.

SHARAD PAWAR

CHECKMATED SHARAD

The architect of the Maha Vikas Aghadi government, NCP chief Sharad Pawar found it difficult to keep the three-party flock together this time. The collapse of the alliance with an ideologically different party like the Shiv Sena has come as a major setback for Pawar. The seasoned and astute politician had set an example with the post-poll tie-up that different ideological regional and national parties can be brought together to defeat the BJP. That formula increased his stature in national politics and ahead of 2024 Lok Sabha polls, he tried to bring all the regional parties at one table. But the BJP played a smarter game. This is bound to have repercussions for Pawar's political strategy in future. The leader, however, asked his people to work hard for the 2024 polls.



UDDHAV THACKERAY

BRAND THACKERAY GETS BLURRED

With brand Uddhav Thackeray left damaged, and the career of his son, Aaditya, experiencing an abrupt hurdle, the Shiv Sena scion will have to restart the journey. The Sena president stepped down from the post of Maharashtra chief minister after a majority of his party MLAs, led by Eknath Shinde, staged a revolt against him last month. Though Uddhav's efforts were lauded during the Covid-19 pandemic, his emotional appeals to his party colleagues to consider him "the family's head" and return to the fold went unheard. He failed politically to keep his party leaders by his side. He can now take solace from the fact that his father Balasaheb Thackeray too had built the party from scratch on the Marathi manoos and later Hindutva agenda.

Shinde faces Speaker election test

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA CM Eknath Shinde will face the first test of his government on Sunday, during the election for the post of the state Assembly speaker.

The BJP and Shiv Sena have nominated their MLAs Rahul Narvekar and Rajan Salvi, respectively, for the post.

Salvi said his party chief whip Sunil Prabhu has issued the whip to all 55 Shiv Sena MLAs, including the 39 rebels, to cast their vote in his favour. He added that if anyone fails to follow the whip, then action for their disqualification will be initiated against them. Salvi is the join candidate of the Maha Vikas Aghadi government

Earlier in a day, the Congress had planned to put up its MLA Sangram Thopate as its candidate. However, the Shiv Sena requested that since the post was earlier in Congress quota, it should now be given to Sena, looking at the legal battle.

Congress leader Balasaheb Thorat said as per state Assembly record, Shiv Sena's Ajay Chaudhari is Sena legislator party leader while Sunil Prabhu is the chief whip. He said Shinde is no more a legislator party leader or rebel Sena MLA Bharat Gogawale the chief whip. "Uddhav Thackeray's Shiv Sena's chief whip is only applicable while casting the votes in Assembly speaker elections," Thorat said.

However, Shinde said Uddhav's Sena whip is not applicable to them, and they have appointed their own chief whip.

Will challenge Uddhav's letter: Rebels

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mumbai

THE letter from Shiv Sena president Uddhav Thackeray, removing Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde from the post of 'Shiv Sena leader' would be challenged before an appropriate forum, the spokesperson of the rebel Sena group, MLA Deepak Kesarkar, said on Saturday.

"This letter is an insult to the people of Maharashtra," Kesarkar said. "Shinde remains our group leader in the House and his dignity should be maintained. We had said that we will not respond to any statement made by Uddhav Thackeray. But as far as this letter is concerned, we will have to respond," he added.

Thackeray had issued a letter on June 30, stating the removal of Shinde from the post of 'Shiv Sena leader' because of his "anti-party activities".

Emphasising that Shinde has been elected as the leader by the rebel MLAs, Kesarkar said nobody can snatch that position from him. He also expressed happiness over former CM Devendra Fadnavis joining the Cabinet. "The projects which had started during his tenure in 2014-19 would be completed now," he told the media.

Asked about the expansion of the Shinde cabinet, he said the decision would be taken after the floor test, which is due to be held on Monday. "Shinde and Fadnavis will consult top BJP leaders in Delhi to take the decision," he added.

SIT blames Dera Sacha Sauda for Bargari sacrilege

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

SEVEN years after the Bargari sacrilege incidents, the Special Investigation Team (SIT) of Punjab Police, in its final report made public on Saturday, has blamed Dera Sacha Sauda and its chief Gurmeet Ram Rahim Singh as the main conspirator. The SIT has also rebutted the closure report given by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) in this case.

The 467-page report was handed over by Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann to the Sikh leaders who have been pursuing this case.

Inspector General of Police (Ludhiana Range) SPS Parmar, who headed the SIT, said, "Our domain was limited only to investigation of three sacrilege cases and not the firing cases of Kotkapura and Behbal Kalan, which are being investigated by other SITs. There are more than a dozen accused in these three sacrilege cases and all have been arrested expect the three proclaimed officers."

Displaced by flood, thousands suffering for yrs

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

DEEPA Rani Payun cannot return to the place she grew up at – her home on the river island of Majuli in Assam does not exist anymore after being devoured by the mighty Brahmaputra.

It has been 16 years since Payun's good rural life at her native village of Kaniajan was disrupted. Since then she has been holed up in a shelter along a river embankment. Like her, thousands of other displaced villagers are leading a cluttered existence due to lack of basic amenities after their homes and lands were ravaged by floods.

"I have seen it all since I was a child. The river swallowed everything, bit by bit," said Payun, 46, who is single and stays with her elder brother. Her family lost 120 bighas of land, much of it agricultural parcel, to the Brahmaputra.

Payun belongs to the Mishing tribe, a community that lives by the river bank. "The Mishings in rural Assam usually live on stilts in spacious areas, and rear pigs. But now, there is hardly any space for the children to play on the embankment or the pigs to be reared," she said.

It's not just the floods, however, that cause displacement of thousands in Assam every year. Large swathes of land on the north bank of the Brahmaputra have turned into deserts due to siltation.

Amulya Pamegam fell victim to the siltation that destroyed his Alimur Mishing Gaon and four adjoining villages.

"We relocated to a PWD road near Kamalabari Ghat in 2004. Around 1,000 families from five villages have been living on the roadside since then," Pamegam, who drives an ambulance, said.

With no access to potable water, some of these displaced people have installed tube wells, while others rely entirely on the Brahmaputra. They have electricity connections at home. The families send their children to nearby schools. Although the government constructed some toilets, many of them had to build it on their own. Problems, however, continue to be aplenty.

Manipur: Six more bodies found, toll reaches 26

Guwahati: Six more bodies were recovered from the landslide-hit railway construction site at Tupul in Manipur's Noney district on Saturday as the search and rescue operation by multiple agencies continued. Five of the victims were Territorial Army personnel. With these, the bodies of 26 people, including 20 personnel, have been retrieved. Earlier, 18 persons were rescued.

"As the toilets were built haphazardly and unscientifically, the entire area stinks sometimes," Pamegam said. "You will not be able to pass through our area during the monsoon."

Their biggest worry, however, is the fear of eviction. According to the residents, an official from the land revenue department visited the area recently, telling them that they would have to vacate the area as the government wants to widen the road.

"Where will we go? We have no idea if we will be resettled elsewhere. We continue to remain landless despite a fight for 10-12 years," Pamegam said.

According to KK Chatradhara of the Northeast Water Talk, which works on water-related issues, there has been a change in the Assam flood pattern in recent years. He cited the case of Dhemaji, a flood-prone district on the north bank of the Brahmaputra.

"There is no flood in Dhemaji this year but some areas which never had it came under its grip. Then, there are other issues related to water. We want to highlight those through stories," Chatradhara said, adding that though no survey has been conducted so far, it is estimated that 1-1.5 lakh flood-affected people live on the roadside in Assam.

"The government has no policy for the resettlement of the people displaced due to floods. However, there have been some cases where the victims were allotted land to settle down," Chatradhara added.

Photos showing killer with BJP leaders spark questions, party distances itself

RAJESH ASNANI @Jaipur

A political controversy has erupted in the murder case of Kanhaiya Lal in Udaipur after pictures surfaced of one of the accused, Riyaz Attari, standing with some BJP leaders. One of the pictures, from 2018, shows Riyaz with the leader of Opposition in the state Assembly, Gulabchand Kataria.

The images prompted Congress to demand that the BJP must reveal its links with the killers. Kataria, on the other hand, has said he had no connection with the killers but like all senior leaders, he has no control over who gets photographed with him during public functions.

Besides the picture with Kataria, an old post of a worker of the BJP Minority Morcha has also come to the fore, wherein he has described Riyaz as a BJP worker. In the post published in 2019, Riyaz is visible along with Irshad Chainwala and activist Mohammad Tahir who is associated with the BJP Minority Morcha.

Saying he has no link with Riyaz, Chainwala said, "Riyaz had returned from Mecca-Medina, and was welcomed with a garland." He said he was introduced to Riyaz by Tahir.

Photos of Riyaz have also surfaced with Udaipur BJP president Ravindra Shrimali. However, Shrimali said Riyaz has nothing to do with the party. "If anyone takes a picture in the crowd, then such a person cannot be linked to any party," he remarked. State president of BJP Minority Front, M Sajid Khan, echoed the comments.

However, Congress spokesperson Pawan Khera asked whether this was the reason for the Centre to "hastily hand over the probe to the NIA".

Angry lawyers manhandle accused outside court

The four accused in the brutal killing of Kanhaiya Lal were attacked by an angry mob while they were being presented at a special NIA court in Jaipur on Saturday. A group of lawyers raised slogans, demanding that they be hanged at the earliest. The attacks happened despite the large presence of the security forces at the premises. The police had to shield the accused — Riyaz Jabbar, Mohammad Ghaus, Mohsin, and Asif — from the crowd. They have been sent to NIA custody till July 12.

BJP wins because of Cong leaders' remarks: Amit Shah

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

ON the last day of his three-day visit to Gujarat, Home Minister Amit Shah lashed out at the Congress, accusing the previous government of doing injustice to the state. Criticising the grand old party for always playing dirty politics over any development work in Gujarat, Shah said it was because of the Congress leaders' irresponsible statements and behaviour that the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) wins.

Shah on Saturday inaugurated projects worth ₹33.29 crore to be carried out jointly by Ahmedabad Municipal Corporation and Western Railway.

While addressing a gathering at Chandlodiya locality of Ahmedabad, Shah said the Narendra Modi government is spending six times more money annually on the railway network in Gujarat as compared to the UPA government.

"The UPA government in Delhi used to spend ₹590 crore every year on the railway network in Gujarat. Prime Minister Narendra Modi increased this to ₹3,960 crore between 2014 and 2022," Shah said.

"The Congress leaders are talking differently today. I have to tell them that at least once they should look at the growth figures of BJP government. They don't look at the data and keep blaming whichever way they like, and because of their baseless statements, BJP wins," he added.

Govt to regulate land use for private schools

The J&K administration has decided to regulate land in use by private schools in the union territory. According to the school education department (SED), many schools have either permission or lease from the government regarding using land for schools. An order from April maintains that at the time of NOC/affiliation for schools at different levels, the use of land should be verified. In case of any private school is situated on government land with due permission, they will be asked to submit papers validating this, it said. The SED said the step has been aimed to check the corruption and mushrooming growth of private schools running on government land without permission.

As missiles rain down, Zelenskyy accuses Russia of unleashing terror

KYIV

MISSILES rained down on Ukraine killing many civilians and wounding dozens in built up areas as the weekend began, prompting President Volodymyr Zelenskyy to accuse Russia of state "terror".

Strikes on a southern resort town left 21 dead and dozens wounded after missiles slammed into flats and a recreation centre in Sergiyvka, 80 kilometres south of Black Sea port Odessa.

The witness said the strike on Friday was thought to use cluster munitions which spread over a large area before exploding, striking buildings and people who were outdoors. The attacks came after Moscow abandoned positions on a strategic island in a major setback to the Kremlin's invasion. Victims of the Sergiyvka attacks included a 12-year-old boy, Zelenskyy said in his daily address to the nation, adding that some 40 people have been injured and that the death toll could rise.

"I emphasise: this is an act of deliberate, purposeful Russian terror—and not some kind of mistake or an accidental missile strike," Zelensky said.

"Three missiles hit a regular nine-storey apartment building, in which nobody was hiding any weapons, any military equipment," he added.

Germany swiftly condemned the violence. "The cruel manner in which the Russian aggressor takes the deaths of civilians in its stride and is again speaking of collateral damages is inhuman and cynical," said German government spokesman Steffen Hebestreit.

The attacks follow global outrage earlier this week when a Russian strike destroyed a shopping centre in Kremenchuk, central Ukraine, killing at least 18 civilians.

President Vladimir Putin has denied his forces were responsible for that attack and Moscow made no immediate comment on the Odessa strikes. On Friday, Zelenskyy hailed a new chapter in its relationship with the European Union, after Brussels recently granted Ukraine candidate status in Kyiv's push to join the 27-member bloc, even if membership is likely years away. "Our journey to membership shouldn't take decades. We should make it down this road quickly," Zelenskyy told Ukraine's parliament.

The president of the European Commission Ursula von der Leyen, said membership was "within reach" but urged them to work on anti-corruption reforms. And the Pentagon said it was sending a new armament package worth $820 million, including two air defence systems. AFP

UKRAINE CLAIMS RUSSIA USED PHOSPHORUS AMMUNITION

KYIV Ukraine's army accused Russia of carrying out strikes using incendiary phosphorus munitions on Snake Island Friday, just a day after Moscow withdrew its forces from the rocky outcrop in the Black Sea. "Today at around 18:00... Russian air force SU-30 planes twice conducted strikes with phosphorus bombs on Zmiinyi island," it said in a statement, another name for Snake Island.The Russian defence ministry described the retreat as "a gesture of goodwill" meant to demonstrate that Moscow will not interfere with UN efforts to organise protected grain exports from Ukraine. The Ukrainian army on Friday accused the Russians of being unable to "respect even their own declarations". Its statement was accompanied by a video that showed a plane drop munitions at least twice on the island, and what appeared to be white streaks rising above it. Phosphorus weapons, which leave a signature white trail in the sky, are incendiary weapons whose use against civilians is banned under an international convention but allowed for military targets. TEXAS SC BARS LOWER COURT ORDER THAT ALLOWED ABORTIONS

AUSTIN

THE Texas Supreme Court has blocked a lower court order that had allowed clinics in the state to continue performing abortions even after the US Supreme Court overturned it's landmark 1973 ruling that confirmed a constitutional right to abortion.

It was not immediately clear whether the clinics in Texas that resumed performing abortions just days ago would halt services again following the ruling late Friday night. A hearing is scheduled for later this month. The whiplash of Texas clinics turning away patients, rescheduling them, and now potentially canceling appointments again—all in the span of a week— illustrates the confusion and scrambling that has taken place across the country since Roe v. Wade was overturned.

An order by a Houston judge on Tuesday had reassured some clinics they could temporarily resume abortions up to six weeks into pregnancy. Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton quickly asked the state's highest court to temporarily put that order on hold.

"These laws are confusing, unnecessary, and cruel," said Marc Hearron, attorney for the Center for Reproductive Rights, after the order was issued Friday night. Clinics in Texas—a state of nearly 30 million people—stopped performing abortions after the US Supreme Court last week overturned Roe v. Wade. Texas had left an abortion ban on the books for the past 50 years while Roe was in place. Abortion providers and patients across the country have been struggling to navigate the evolving legal landscape around abortion laws and access. In Florida, a law banning abortions after 15 weeks went into effect Friday.

The day after a judge called it a violation of state constitution and said he would sign an order temporarily blocking the law next week. AFP

Demand for SUVs continues to outpace other segments

Affordable price played big role in mainstreaming SUVs, which a decade back were associated with big, bulkier vehicles with off-roading capabilities

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

FROM mere 15% market share 2 decades ago to accounting for over 40% of the total domestic passenger vehicle (PV) sales, demand for sports utility vehicles (SUVs) continues to outpace other segments by a big margin.

A change in consumer preferences to opt for an upright driving stance and high ground clearance vehicle that got complemented with multiple options available at an affordable price point played a big role in mainstreaming SUVs, which a decade back were mostly associated with big, bulkier, diesel-powered vehicles that had off-roading capabilities.

Mitul Shah, head of research at Reliance Securities, said the launch of budget compact SUVs 7-8 years ago led to the beginning of the current trend of preferring SUVs to small cars. Significant lower pricing compared to conventional large SUV and increasing first-time buyers in lower age groups who prefer stylish sporty SUVs are key driving factors behind the rising contribution of SUVs in overall PVs, he added.

Shashank Srivastava, Maruti Suzuki's senior executive director (marketing and sales), said SUVs currently account for 40% of all passenger vehicles sold in India.

Cut Throat Competition

Three big launches from 3 top auto-makers and a brand new unveiling by Toyota highlights that demand for SUVs will remain robust. Hyundai recently launched the facelift of its sub compact SUV Venue to maintain its market leading position in the segment while Maruti Suzuki launched the all-new Brezza in what is seen as the first major launch to increase its share.

Home-grown auto-major Mahindra & Mahindra launched Scorpio N, the modern version of its highly popular Scorpio SUV, while Fortuner & Innova maker Toyota unveiled new Urban Cruiser Hyryder to challenge the likes of Hyundai Creta, Kia Seltos and other mid-size SUVs. Currently, Hyundai, with nearly 2.5 lakh SUV sales last fiscal, had a market share of 22% and leads the SUV segment, while its closest competitor Tata Motors had a market share of 18% in FY22 as it sold about 2.05 lakh SUVs.

Mahindra & Mahindra, which till last decade was the undisputed SUV champion with over 50% market share, had a 15% share last fiscal while Maruti Suzuki, with only two options, had nearly 12% share in the SUV market.

"Competition in the segment would further intensify with numerous launches planned by all the key players for the coming period, which may put some pressure on pricing and margins of the companies, going ahead, though overall margins of SUVs are better than small cars in general," said Shah. Not only the established automakers, new carmakers and those who are trying to revive their fortune in India are banking heavily on SUVs. For example, Kia Motors, in less than three years has become a serious player in the Indian PV space by having an all-SUV portfolio (except for Carnival UV) while Volkswagen (including Skoda) has seen a big surge in sales in recent months after launching a mid-size SUV.

Maruti's Big Come Back

The country's largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki is betting big on SUVs to conquer a 50% market share in the PV market, which now has come down to around 42-43%. Besides Brezza, MSIL is launching a fresh product in the mid-size SUV segment. "The All-New Brezza is an important step in this direction. This model is the first offering in our upcoming vibrant SUV portfolio," said Hisashi Takeuchi, Managing Director and CEO of MSIL. He added that the company's new model will be high on design, technology and features. Currently, the carmaker has only two SUVs in its long line-up and has a share of about 20% in the compact SUV segment.

Bajaj Consumer to expand premium personal-care portfolio

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

FMCG major Bajaj Consumer Care has plans to move its focus from a single brand — its flagship product Bajaj Almond drop hair oil — to establishing new brands in a bid to tap into the larger premium personal care space.

The managing director of the company, Jaideep Nandi, in an interaction with TNIE, said the company plans to launch multiple products in skin-care and hair-care categories, which people can recall beyond almond drop hair oil.

For Bajaj Consumer Care, says Nandi, one of the key advantages and disadvantages has been its one single brand. "It's a single product the focus and energy has been on and the product expansion for the organisation has been stunted."

As part of its expansion strategy, the company has plans to fire on three legs — expanding the hair oil portfolio, building new brands and bringing almond oil in new formats.

"You will see a comprehensive umbrella of Almond drops in personal care in multiple formats like serums, lotions and shampoos etc. The launches will be graded," he said. The company launched its Bajaj almond oil moisturising soap on Tuesday as an extension of this plan. "The 90% saliency that almond oil has for the company today should go down while the product keeps on growing, as new brands become larger," he said. Talking about Bajaj Almond oil's market share, Nandi says it has hovered between 9.7% to 10.3% over the years, so it's flat if you look at the overall 13,000 crore market. "We are looking at penetration in the southern markets, presence in LUPs to grow the market share in the category."

In the ₹13,000 crore hair oil market, the company plays in the ₹2000 crore light hair oil category, notes Nandi.

The company has launched two Digital-first brands - Natyv Soul and Bajaj Pure - just seven months ago. On acquisitions, Nandi says, "If it could help fulfill plans of either completing a range of hair oil or getting further deep into the personal care category, or can add value in geographies where the company is weaker, then we'll look at it. In the D2C space we'll also keep on very closely observing and if we feel that there is some attractive opportunity there for us, that is clearly an option."

Nandi says the rural economy is a little stressed in terms of demand conditions. However, he adds, "I think it's more of a transient thing rather than long-term." Middle packs are suffering, he said, as consumers are moving to either low-unit packs or value-seeking packs. "We are investing in larger packs as they are performing well." He also notes that more affluent economies like the South and Maharashtra seem to be doing a little better.

MORE JETS, AIRLINES HERALD GOOD TIMES FOR FLYERS

GURBIR SINGH

AS Covid curbs recede and business and tourist travelers – cooped up for two years – find their wings, one can see air ticket prices slowly creeping up and airlines cashing in on the mad rush. There is the flip side too. A slew of airlines are hitting the skies, and will hopefully challenge the monopoly of Indigo Airlines. For the air passenger this means cheaper tickets and better connectivity.

Jet Air, which has been grounded since April 2019, is on revival track, and after its first flight in mid-May this year, has been granted an air operators permit (AOP) by the Director General of Civil Aviation (DGCA). Most industry watchers have been skeptical whether Jet would ever fly again. But after a few missteps, the new owners – Murari Lal Jalan, a Dubai-based businessman, and Florian Fritsch of Kalrock Capital – are pumping in $180 million to pay off old dues and acquire new aircraft.

Akasa Air, promoted by stock broker Rakesh Jhunjhunwala, is also sprinting to take to the air. Old Delta Airlines hand, Vinay Dube who now heads Akasa Air, expects to receive its flying permit as early as this month, and will begin selling tickets and scheduling flights soon after. Being a new airline, Akasa will have to stick to domestic routes for some time.

And finally there is the old heavyweight, Air India, whose ownership passed to the Tata Group in January this year. The group has 3 airlines in its bag now – Air India, the premium Vistara, and Air Asia – with a collective passenger share of around 24%. Air India hasn't bought a new aircraft since 2006, and therefore its whopper order for 300 planes, is possibly a record for the industry.

₹19,500 cr
cumulatively losses airlines suffered, while airports took a loss of more than ₹5,120 crore since March 2020

17 airlines have folded up in 15 years
The airline business is not a very pretty picture. In the past 15 years, as many as 17 airlines have folded up; of these, two airlines Air Odisha Aviation and Deccan Charters exited in 2020 after the Covid lockdown. Air India's debt, before it was sold to the Tata Group, had ballooned to ₹60,000 crore

Tough nut to crack

Commercial aviation has always been a tough nut to crack all over the world. In India too, the scramble by new players comes at a time when the market is already crowded and aviation fuel prices are hitting a new high.

Even market leader IndiGo, despite its near monopoly of 60% of passenger traffic in May, is still struggling. For the quarter ended March 31, 2022, its net loss widening to ₹1,682 crore, up from ₹1,147 crore for the same period a year ago. InterGlobe Aviation, the airline's parent company, blamed the 61% rise in fuel prices for this negative results.

The airline business is not a very pretty picture. In the past 15 years, as many as 17 airlines have folded up; of these, two airlines Air Odisha Aviation and Deccan Charters exited in 2020 after the Covid lockdown. Air India's debt, before it was sold to the Tata Group, had ballooned to ₹60,000 crore.

The pandemic, which suspended air travel March 2020 onwards for nearly 18 months, took a severe toll on the industry. Airlines cumulatively reported losses of around ₹19,500 crore while airports took a loss of more than ₹5,120 crore. These figures should have dampened the enthusiasm of the new players; but the post-pandemic air travel rush is now being seen as a sizeable window of opportunity.

New opportunities

DGCA data for instance showed a strong recovery by May this year when air carriers flew 1.20 crore passengers on local routes, as compared to just 21 lakh passengers a year ago in May 2021.

There is long-term expansion too. Over the last 3-4 years, India has become the fourth largest domestic aviation market in the world and is expected to overtake the UK to become the third-largest air passenger market by 2024. The significance is the growth of demand from smaller towns where income levels and business activity has created pressure for new airports and better air connectivity.

With Jet and Akasa Air set to take off, there will be 8 serious contenders. It looks crowded, but considering passenger demand, this is what the country needs. Vinay Dube, chief of Akasa Air says: "I don't think India has excess supply -- India will need 1,000 planes over the next 20 years. The pie is growing faster in India," he said.

Civil Aviation Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia remarked India needs to add as many as 120 jets every year to keep pace with demand.

What is the future of some of the new airlines and those who are still struggling? Will they undercut each other by unsustainable ticket pricing to grab passenger volume? Some like Ronojoy Dutta, CEO and whole time director of Indigo Airlines, feels that many of these airlines are now headed by hard-nosed professionals who have learnt the hard way.

Passenger volume will be chased but not at the cost of business sustainability, he said in a recent interview.

If Dutta turns out right, more airlines will survive and prosper, and that is what is in the interests of the community of air passengers too.

After Jadeja's hundred puts India on top, bowlers run through England's top-order on Day 2

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

RAVINDRA Jadeja has made 50 or more in a Test on 20 occasions. For a player, who India patiently waited to arrive with the bat in Tests, while plucking bucketful of wickets with the ball, he is at a stage now where this isn't a resurgence phase anymore. From being an all-rounder who could bat, he has fully become an all-rounder batter, who can bowl.

From having to wait for six years to get to the three-figure mark in Tests, Jadeja has since come a long way. With every series, his batting stocks have only been increasing and from making runs, which was considered a bonus, Jadeja is now constructing match-winning innings and where his presence alone makes a huge difference when it comes to the balance of the team.

When Jadeja walked in with India placed at 98/5, you would have expected nothing different from him. By now, we know, he has evolved into a reliable batter. One who is watchful — one of the most striking aspects of his innings at Edgbaston — and the one, if need be, goes for the shots while batting with the tail. It doesn't come as a surprise anymore. Even the sword celebration is losing its novelty because you are getting to see it a lot often. It doesn't break the internet anymore or nor does it find space on social media handles.

Yet, there was something special about Jadeja's 104. Just a little over a month, he had left Chennai Super Kings camp hurt. There was niggle for sure, but if having to relinquish captaincy wasn't enough, to hear MS Dhoni say he wasn't prepared for the role despite being offered time must have been brutal to hear. It is hard to think of such a low-point in his otherwise forever improving career.

Ravindra Jadeja scored his third Test century on Day 2 of the fifth Test against England in Edgbaston on Saturday | AP

SCOREBOARD

India 1st innings (338/7 overnight): Jadeja b Anderson 104, Shami c Leach b Broad 16, Bumrah (not out) 31, Siraj c Broad b Anderson 2; Extras: (b 4, lb 17, nb 14, w 5) 40; Total (all out in 84.5 overs) 416; FoW: 8-371, 9-375; Bowling: Anderson 21.5-4-60-5, Broad 18-3-89-1, Potts 20-1-105-2, Leach 9-0-71-0, Stokes 13-0-47-1, Root 3-0-23-1.

England 1st innings: Lees b Bumrah 6, Crawley c Gill b Bumrah 9, Pope c Iyer b Bumrah 10, Root c Pant b Siraj 31, Bairstow (batting) 12, Leach c Pant b Shami 9, Stokes (batting) 0; Extras (b 8, lb 3, nb 5) 16; Total (5 wkts, 27 ovs) 84; FoW: 1-16, 2-27, 3-44, 4-78, 5-83; Bowling: Bumrah 11-1-35-3, Shami 13-3-33-1, Siraj 3-2-5-1.

As the IPL party continued, he silently left the bubble and headed back to Jamnagar, where he spent most of his time at his farmhouse in the company of his horses and the new addition — a dove. While some other players may have used interviews to plug their side of the story, there was only silence from Jadeja's end. No cryptic social media posts or anything. It said a thing or two about the all-rounder, whose confidence even those in the national team set up feared would have taken a dent.

Yet, over the course of his knock spread across the first two days, Jadeja showed no such thing. If anything he only oozed confidence. Fully trusting game, as Rishabh Pant played an electrifying innings at the other end, Jadeja was watchful throughout. On conditions where batters' instincts can make them poke those deliveries outside the off-stump, he was the lone batter who looked assured when it came to leaving the balls (Pant left all of one ball outside off).

If Day 1 was all about Pant, on Saturday Jadeja in the company of Mohammed Shami, completed his third Test century. Even though two perished, the last pair of Jasprit Bumrah and Mohammed Siraj took India to 416.

Even though rain played hide and seek, Indian pacers' persistent attack reduced England to 84/5 in 27 overs.

BUMRAH ON A HIGH IN BROADWAY

Stuart Broad conceded 35 runs in the 84th over on Day 2, the most in an over in Tests. Jasprit Bumrah hit 29 of those. Here is a look at how it all unfolded...

Ball 1: 4 — A short-ball top-edge from Bumrah flies to the ropes.

Ball 2: 5w — Too wide for Sam Billings to get hold as another short delivery runs to the boundary

Ball 3: 6nb — Another short ball and another top edge, this time over the ropes. Broad oversteps as well.

Ball 4: 4 — High full toss, Bumrah stands tall and hits it over mid-on

Ball 5: 4 — Bumrah swings the bat, inside edge goes for four

Ball 6: 4 — Short ball, Bumrah loses his balance, but manages to pull it to the ropes

Ball 7: 6 — Same ball, this time pulled behind square for six

Ball 8: 1 — Defends a full ball and takes a single to retain strike

Salima key as India take on England in WC opener

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

FROM being fearful of boarding a train to a globetrotting athlete, India hockey midfielder Salima Tete has come a long way in the last few years. A new chapter will be added to her short but glittering career when she takes the field in India's Women's World Cup opener against England in a pool B match in Amstelveen, Netherlands on Sunday.

Already an established name in the Indian team, 20-year-old Salima now wants a podium finish for the team in the mega event especially after the historic fourth-place finish at the 2020 Tokyo Olympics last year. "We have improved a lot after the Tokyo Games. People have started watching our matches now. Even people from my village have started watching matches. This all motivates me. Now we have to see how we can finish on the podium. And for that we have to work hard, stay connected with each other and motivate each other," Salima, who hails from Badkichapar village, Simdega (Jharkhand), told this daily.

After England, India will play China on July 5, followed by a match against New Zealand on July 7.

Given her show in the recently concluded FIH Pro League matches against the eventual champion Argentina,

India midfielder Salima Tete

the midfielder will also be expected to dribble past defenders and create scoring opportunities for the team at the biggest stage of the game. Knowing the additional responsibility she would have in the tournament, Salima, who recently captained the team to a fourth-place finish in the junior World Cup, is working on her finishing skills. "I know I have speed. Coaches also know that so they want me to play in the forward line and feed balls to strikers. Because of my speed, I form a good combination with strikers. I am working on my finishing skills. It's not necessary that I only score goals. It's also important to pass the ball. Anyways, it's the end results that matter. We need a goal and who scores it doesn't matter."

Great Britain shattered India's bronze medal hopes in Tokyo as they registered a close 4-3 win against them in the bronze medal play-off. Since then, the Indian women have improved considerably and recently finished a creditable third in their maiden outing at the FIH Pro League.

Salima, who led the team to a silver medal finish at the 2018 Youth Olympics in Buenos Aires, strongly believes the team can improve their showing in the showpiece event. "Self-belief is the biggest thing. We should be self-motivated to do things. This will help us do anything," she asserted.

India's best show in the World Cup is a fourth-place finish at the inaugural edition in 1974 while their rivals in the opener, England's best result came in the 2010 edition where they finished with a bronze medal.

However, a lot has changed since then as there is hardly anything to differentiate between the two sides. England are placed fourth in world rankings while India are at sixth. And Salima, who once used to be afraid of train travel fearing something big might come in the way and derail it, is ready to dart forward and help the team realise its potential without thinking about defenders and their past reputation.

Chennaiyin FC sign Ghanaian striker Karikari

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

TWO-TIME former Indian Super League champions Chennaiyin FC on Saturday announced the signing of Ghanaian forward Kwame Karikari for the upcoming season.

The 30-year-old will be joining the Marina Machansfollowing an impressive outing for Nakhonratchasima Mazda in the Thai League where he scored 13 goals in 29 league matches.

Karikari was also the joint second highest goal scorer for Mazda in the Thai FA cup with four strikes from six games.

Karikari brings valuable experience to Chennaiyin's attack, having played 261 games in his 11-year long professional career with 84 goals and 13 assists to his name. The striker has plied his trade for 12 clubs in eight top-tier leagues across the world. He also has two Europa League goals to his name, which came against CSKA Moscow and PSV Eindhoven in 2012.

"I cannot wait to get started with the new team," said Karikari, who also represented Ghana at the U-20 Africa Cup. Karikari will be CFC's third foreign signing this summer. Karikari has spent most of his time in the Swedish league, featuring for AIK Solna, with whom he made his professional debut at 19 in 2011.

He played 58 matches, including seven Europa League games, for them and scored 10 goals across competitions in five seasons.

Pace pool continues to impress in the UK

GOMESH S @Chennai

AS the 2022 edition of the Indian Premier League came to an end, one of the key positive to come out of the tournament for was the performance of the uncapped Indian pacers. The likes of Arsdheep Singh, Umran Malik, Avesh Khan, Yash Duyal and Mohsin Khan made a mark to an extent where the first two earned their maiden India call-up for the South Africa series.

However, with India sticking to the same playing XI through the series, the duo did not get an opportunity against the Proteas. In the series against Ireland, Umran made his debut and showed a glimpse of what he was capable of. Arshdeep, on the other hand, finally got a chance to play in the warm-up fixture against Derbyshire on Friday.

The left-arm pacer took 2/29 and Umran picked up 2/31 as India, led by Dinesh Karthik, beat Derbyshire comfortably by seven wickets. While the Jammu & Kashmir fast bowler is already turning heads with his express pace, hitting the 150KMPH-mark often, the control exhibited by Arshdeep, especially in the middle and death overs, is what makes him stand out.

India pacer Bhuvneshwar Kumar | AFP

Although both are included in the India squad for the first T20I against England, Arshdeep did not make the cut with Jasprit Bumrah returning to the side after a prolonged rest from the white-ball side. With Bhuvneshwar Kumar, Avesh Khan and Harshal Patel in the mix, it could be hard for Arshdeep and Umran to get a go against England.

England all-rounder Sam Curran felt the same as well in a select media interaction facilitated by Sony Sports Network on Thursday. "India have got a fantastic pool of bowlers now. I am pretty sure that Bumrah and Mohammed Shami are still their top bowlers across formats... whether they are rotated or bowl a bit. I think the other guys are new, very young and exciting. I think it's an exciting time for Indian fast bowlers, but yeah, I think Bumrah and Shami are still their top options," said Curran hours before BCCI rested Shami for the white-ball series.

As for Bhuvneshwar — who too, has had a good IPL for Sunrisers Hyderabad and has gotten only better after every game he played in the South Africa and Ireland series — Curran felt that he could be a big factor in the white-ball series against India. "He is an amazing bowler and I have played against him in India and the IPL as well. He is obviously a fantastic skillful bowler who is going to be coming to England as well. Really looking forward to playing against him. He is on the top of his game, a fantastic bowler," he added.

Brief scores: Derbyshire 150/8 in 20 ovs (Madsen 28; Arshdeep 2/29, Umran 2/31) lost to India 151/3 in 16.5 ovs (Hooda 59, Samson 38).

Boxer Kalaivani enters Elorda Cup final

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

INDIAN boxer Kalaivani Srinivasan stormed into the final with a dominating victory while Kuldeep Kumar progressed to the semifinals of the Elorda Cup in Nur-Sultan, Kazakhstan on Saturday.

Kalaivani demonstrated excellent skills against Uzbekistan's Farzona Fozilova in the women's 48kg semifinal. Her powerful blows and persistent attack didn't allow her opponent any opportunity to settle down as she comfortably won by unanimous decision in the end. Kuldeep provided India a winning start on the fourth day but had to work hard for the victory. Kuldeep faced a stiff challenge from Kairat Yernur in a nail-biting men's 48kg quarterfinal contest. However, he notched up a 3-2 win. Meanwhile, another boxer in the men's section, Yashpal lost to Kazakhstan's Aslanbek Shymbergenov by 0-5 margin in the 71kg quarterfinal. Among women, Babita Bisht (81kg), Jyoti (52kg) and Neema (63kg) signed off with bronze medals after defeats in the semifinals. While Babita suffered a defeat against China's Zheng Lu by 'Referee Stopping the Contest' verdict, Jyoti and Neema conceded 0-5 losses against Uzbekistan's Feruza Kazakova and Kazakhstan's Anar Tursynbek, respectively.

World No 1 Iga out of Wimbledon

AP/AFP @ London

TOP-RANKED Iga Swiatek's 37-match winning streak has ended with a straight-set loss to Alize Cornet in the third round at Wimbledon.

Swiatek was coming off a title at the French Open but her play was filled with mistakes in the 6-4, 6-2 defeat against the 37th-ranked Cornet of France. Swiatek made 33 unforced errors in the 1-hour, 33-minute contest at No. 1 Court. Cornet made only seven. Swiatek had been unbeaten since February and won her preceding six tournaments in a row.

Meanwhile, Harmony Tan, who knocked out Serena Williams in the first round, on Saturday, defeated British player Katie Boulter. The unseeded Frenchwoman is making her debut at the All England Club. She has played at the French Open four times, reaching the second round once. She also played at this year's Australian Open and again reached the second round. At the US Open, she lost in the first round in 2018 in her only appearance at Flushing Meadows. Tan beat Boulter 6-1, 6-1 on No. 2 Court. Tan's debut at Wimbledon came on Day 2 of the tournament on Centre Court, the biggest stadium on the grounds. That's where she eliminated Williams, a 23-time Grand Slam singles champion, in three sets.
